MIST-LADEN AIR HAMPERS LOWELL FLIERS

Liquor Squad Begins Its Work

1700 Homing Pigeons Started From North Adams in Fog Which Hindered Fast Time Flight to Lowell

GROUP OF VALUABLE PRIZE WINNERS

Owing to the weather conditions yesterday at North Adams, the starting point of the 100-mile pigeon flying race under the auspices of the Lowell Flying club, the race was not as successful as anticipated. The birds were liberated at North Adams at 7:30 a. m. and it was almost three hours later that the first pigeon reached its coop in this city, and this is considered a poor showing, for the fliers that participated in the event have made better time on many previous occasions.

When the birds were let out of their baskets at the railroad station at North Adams there was a heavy fog and mist and this handicapped the birds to a great extent. Another cause of the poor flying is the fact that about 1700 pigeons were flown at the same time and from the same place, some going to Lawrence and others to Malden and other places, and when large flocks are liberated at the same time many of the homers are apt to fly in a wrong direction for some time and that means a loss of time.

Many Lowell Birds

The Lowell men whose birds participated in the race were Leon Hoesebroeck of 123 Farmland road; Emil Hoesebroeck, 67 Worthen street; George Smith, William Lesard, Octavio Chapman and Joseph Ripelle. Altogether 50 Lowell birds were flown, but at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon only six had returned to their coop. The first to fly into its pen was one owned by Emil Hoesebroeck, which was registered at 10 o'clock 22 m. 50 sec. This bird was awarded first prize for the birds in the young class.

The next to show up was one owned by Leon Hoesebroeck, the time being 10 o'clock 27 m. 5 sec. It captured first prize for old birds. The next was one of Leon's pigeons, which arrived at 10 o'clock 49 m. 18 sec. Second prize was awarded to it.

Texas Wants Most Popular "Bud" of Lowell to Act as a Princess

Who is Lowell's most popular debutante?

The state of Texas wants her to act as a princess to the international court of the queen of the pageant to be held in Dallas next October as the formal opening feature of the fair and international exposition marking the centennial of the state.

When she is found she will have the honor of attending court functions in Dallas for two weeks. She will be gowned in regular court regalia and will be attended by two ladies in waiting, a prince and two knights. She will enter the pages of romance with a big "R."

Such is the gist of a letter which Mayor Perry D. Thompson received this morning from the committee in charge of the Texas centennial pageant. The committee invites the mayor to attend himself as well as to appoint the city's most popular debutante, the daughter of a prominent family, to enact the role of princess, representing Lowell at the royal court. The pageant is to be a very elaborate affair, according to the letter, with more than 5000 persons depicting the history of the state. The mayor is open to suggestions as to Lowell's most popular debutante.

An attempt to conceal his correct name failed to save Manuel Silva from a jail sentence in the district court this morning, on charges of illegally keeping liquor. Sgt. Michael H. Winn, who heads the new enlarged liquor squad, was the principal witness to Silva's arrest. Silva is charged with bringing about a severe sentence for the defendant, who not only drew three months in the house of correction, but was also ordered to pay a fine of $150.

"This is a terrible place," he testified with reference to Silva's establishment in Molloy's court, which was raided yesterday afternoon by the sergeant together with Officers Clark, Conroy, and Moore. Many bottles of moonshine were found ingeniously concealed in a window, testified the sergeant. The blind of the window had been closed and the curtain pulled down. Between these two bits of camouflage the bottles stood in row until Officer Conroy, seized with inspiration, rolled up the curtain and disclosed the imposing array.

"One of the worst places in Lowell" was the way Sergeant Winn stigmatized Silva's place, and added that Mrs. Silva recently sold a bottle of hooch to a police representative.

When arrested yesterday, the defendant gave the name of Manuel Mendez. It was testified that this morning Sergeant Winn accused him of concealing his true name. It appeared that "Mendez" is Silva's middle name. Consulting his notebook, the sergeant then made the revelation to the court that on July 12 Silva appeared on charges of illegal keeping, and paid a fine of $150. The jail sentence, combined with the fine, was then imposed. Silva appealed, and was held in bonds of $300.

Armored Cars Rush to Scene of Shooting and Bombing in Belfast

BELFAST, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Shooting and bombing occurred in North Queen street and along New Lodge road, Belfast, during the dinner hour today and it was necessary to send armored cars to patrol the locality. Two cases of bullet wounds were treated at a hospital, one man having been shot in the back.

COUNCIL IS TO HOLD A SPECIAL MEETING

After a vacation of two weeks, the members of the municipal council will get down to business sometime this week, at a special meeting, to consider a number of important matters. This week's meeting will probably be held Thursday morning, although Mayor Thompson said this noon that it might be held earlier in the week if a majority of the commissioners wished it.

The most important matter which will come up will be the petition of some 4000 voters that the city take over the plant of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

The council will simply receive the

Register "Kicks" and Thanks With Mayor

Mayor Thompson numbered among his visitors in his office at city hall this morning many members of the local police force who were affected by Saturday's appointments and changes. Some came to express their thanks while others came to register complaints against their new assignments. But all left seemingly satisfied after their interviews with the chief executive. The mayor will appoint new supernumeraries within a few days to fill in places which will be left vacant when he promotes a number of present supernumeraries to the rank of permanent patrolmen.

POLICE AND MINERS CLASH

Battle at Beach Creek, Near the Logan-Boone County Line

Conflicting Reports Place Number of Wounded at From 4 to 14

One Report Says Four Officers Captured by Unidentified Men

CHARLESTON, W. Va., August 29.—Advices were expected today from Adjutant General Charnock and A. C. Porter of the West Virginia United Mine Workers' executive board who were doing missionary work in Logan county, following yesterday's reports to the governor that state police and deputy sheriffs had fought with armed men at Beach Creek, near the Logan-Boone county line.

Mr. Porter carried with him an open letter from President C. F. Kenealy of the miners' executive board to the Logan county miners, which delegated Porter as his personal representative to visit the scene of the reported trouble and to act for him.

"I wish to request that you and each of you remain at your homes; assist in the preservation of law and order and refrain from any conduct other than what may be necessary to protect yourselves and families," the letter said.

Report Number Wounded

"I also urge that at the earliest possible moment you put all mines in your section in operation."

Reports received late last night and early today place the number of wounded during the reported shooting yesterday morning, at from four to 14. None of the reports state definitely that any one was killed, although several hinted at probable fatalities. It is explained that the shooting took place before daybreak, and that in the darkness it was impossible to determine the extent of the wounds suffered by those said to have fallen.

Report Four Officers Captured

Captain Brockus in his report to Governor Morgan, stated that members of his detachment saw five of the opposing force fall to the ground. They were quickly picked up by their companions, however, and carried from the vicinity, while the state troopers retired, the captain's report continued, on account of the darkness which made it difficult to distinguish their own men from their adversaries.

Another report reaching the governor's office and made public, was that three deputy sheriffs and a justice of the peace named Fulton Mitchell, had been taken prisoner by unidentified men and were being detained at Clover, Boone county, across the line from Sharples.

22 RESCUED AS BOAT IS GROUND TO PIECES

GLoucester, Aug. 29.—Twenty-two young people from Cambridge, Boston, Somerville and Salem narrowly escaped death at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the big powerboat "Kittaree" was driven ashore and ground to pieces on the shore of Popple beach here. About half the party were young women. They came here to attend a picnic of the Boston Gaiety school.

When the "Kittaree," its engine stalled, reached shallow water, the entire party jumped over the side into the wild surf. All of them reached shore with difficulty.

Timothy J. Harrington, the pilot of the little craft, had missed the harbor mouth in coming up along the coast, and when he stopped off Hedges Point to put a small boat ashore to land out his position the anchor failed to hold, and the heavy surf dashed over the engine short-circuited it so that the boat drifted helplessly ashore.

Before the coast guard could reach them the power boat was on the beach, just missing by a few feet the ledge at Hedges Point, one of the worst places on the north shore.

As they came into shallow water the men jumped into the surf and rescued the young women, taking them ashore in their arms. Many of the women were rescued by bringing them to the shore. All were thoroughly wet from the spray, which dashed continually over the boat as it drifted toward the shore.

Summer residents in nearby cottages took the party in and gave them an opportunity to dry their clothes before returning home. The "Kittaree" was smashed to pieces, as the surf was one of the highest this season.

GERMAN CABINET IN PREDICAMENT

Murder of Erzberger Appears to Have Set Match to Pile of Combustibles

Acceptance of Responsibility for War in Treaty With U. S. Brings Attack

BERLIN, August 29. (By the Associated Press).—Political conditions in Germany, which during the past few days have assumed a grave aspect, were considered by the cabinet today. President Ebert presided over the session which was called on Saturday, in such a way as to show that the ministry was concerned over the situation. The assassination of Matthias Erzberger last Friday has appeared to have set a match to the piled up combustibles, which have been smoldering for some time, and the cabinet is believed to find itself in a serious predicament.

One of the features of the situation which is troubling the government is the attitude of organized labor, supported by the socialist and communist parties, in demanding the definite suppression of the activities and machinations of the Pan-Germans. This party has been unusually active of late, holding battle anniversaries, "steel helmet" athletic meets, "front troops reunions" and other affairs at which Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, General Ludendorff and other military leaders have been present. These functions have, for the most part, taken on the character of anti-republican manifestations.

The government must decide in the next few days whether it will call the reichstag into session before September 27, the date fixed for that body to meet. There is a disposition on the part of Chancellor Wirth not to take this action, because of his desire to avoid debate upon the American peace treaty before that pact is ratified by the United States senate.

It is a foregone conclusion that the nationalists, if the reichstag should convene, would promptly attack the government because of its acceptance of paragraph 231 of the treaty, by which Germany and her allies accepted responsibility for the war.

Ratification of the treaty is believed to be certain in the reichstag through the votes of the three coalition parties and the independent socialists, which command 277 out of the 469 votes in the reichstag.

The government is about to undergo a decisive test in the reichstag in connection with the forthcoming tax legislation and other measures, and its work is being vastly increased by the feeling aroused over the Erzberger episode.

MASS MEETING INDORSES DISARMAMENT PLANS

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Several thousand people on Boston common voiced their approval of disarmament yesterday afternoon, at the close of a day-long dress given by Will Irwin on "The Next War." The meeting, held under the auspices of the Women's Trade Union League, was composed chiefly of the throng which gathered to hear the Curson tribute. Chancellor James T. McHugh presided, and Miss Mary Welles, president of the Women's Trade Union League, introduced the speaker.

Speaker Irwin was given an enthusiastic welcome. He said in part:

"The last war really began in 1870, and the next war is beginning now. We must meet it at the time and not wait till it is knocking at our doors. It is the duty of every man and woman to be concerned in preventing wars. Something has to be done about the war or the races will be exterminated."

"During the world war the code of war was broken, for example, by poisonous gas attacks. Now the scientist has busied himself here and in Germany perfecting a gas more deadly than that used in the world war."

"Instead of what we had in the last war, we may by the newest developments have a medium to shoot and paralyze; we shall have a vital germ warfare that will kill by the wholesale."

"What Col. Swinton, the inventor of the tank, predicted at a meeting of officers in England is true. Our next war is destined to kill millions, to banish civilization from the earth."

"Already it has been suggested by a French officer that women are to be trained in peace time as well as men, so that every woman may step to her appointed place when occasion calls and go to work—then there will be a half-race of women."

"In the event of war the first day would see the destruction of humanity by a deadly gas."

"German chemists were ready with bacteria for the next war, before the last war closed, and the English scientist had perfected anthrax bombs to be turned loose, if necessary."

"The proportion of the United States revenue expended in army and navy debts, pensions and the like, is 63 per cent."

"It is for you and for me, and for the people of the United States, Eng-

INCREASE TAX AVERAGE HIGH IN MASS.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Malcolm E. Nichols, collector of internal revenue, in a statement issued yesterday tells how much the people of Massachusetts contribute towards the swelling of Uncle Sam's bank account by the income tax alone.

Federal personal income taxes filed in Massachusetts in 1919, he says, reached a total of 268,307, which was 5.03 per cent. of the entire number in the United States. The total net income reported by these returns was $1,030,508,053, while the tax paid on them was $56,568,933, which was 5.49 per cent. of the total personal income tax paid in the entire country.

In the nation at large 5.03 per cent. of the people filed personal income tax returns, while in Massachusetts 6.95 per cent. filed them. The average net income per return for the United States was $3724.95, and in Massachusetts it was $4065.51. The personal income tax per capita for the United States amounted to $11.95, and in Massachusetts it was $22.47. The average amount of personal income tax per return in the United States was $238.05, and in Massachusetts it was $322.64.

Massachusetts' position in the order of magnitude as to all the states and territories in the Union, in the per cent. of population filing returns, was 12th, and 45th in the average net income per return. Its position as to per capita income tax was third, and third in the average amount of tax per return.

The number of personal income tax returns filed for the years 1916, 1917, 1918 and 1919 in Massachusetts, as well as the amounts of net income and tax, are shown in the following table:

No. of Returns	Net Income	Tax
1916	33,291	$14,292,762	$10,892,655
1917	35,611	17,512,002	11,478,907
1918	202,758	525,460,451	51,507,640

"WHEN YOU THINK OF FOOD, THINK OF FAIRBURN'S"

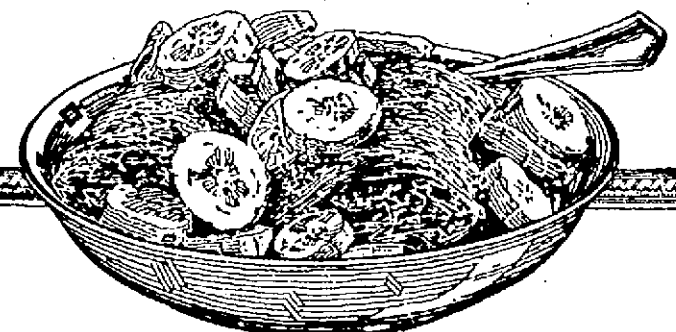

A Great Food Discovery

From Rameses I to the present time the whole wheat grain has been the most perfect food given to man. It contains in proper proportion all the elements needed for building and sustaining the perfect human body. The problem has been how to make the whole wheat grain digestible in the human stomach. That problem was solved by the man who invented

Shredded Wheat

In making Shredded Wheat Biscuit the whole wheat grains are first thoroughly cleaned (no small, broken or defective grains are used), then boiled in steam. The softened grains are then drawn into filmy, porous shreds, which are formed into biscuits (or little loaves) and baked in coal ovens at a high temperature. This process breaks down the starch cells in the center of the wheat so the digestive fluids can get at them. The mineral salts and vitamins (so necessary to normal growth) and the bran, which is needed to stimulate "bowel exercise," are retained.

Delicious for any meal with milk or cream, sliced bananas, raisins, prunes or other fruits.

WINS FIGHT WITH FLU AFTER 2 YEARS

PROVIDENCE WOMAN GAINS NINETEEN POUNDS AND WALKS TO TOWN ALONE FOR FIRST TIME

"I walked down town and back alone today for the first time in two years, and I just can't help praising Tanlac to everybody, for it has restored my health after I thought nothing could help me," was the statement made recently by Mrs. Alice Redell, 111 Cray Street, Providence, R.I.

"I've gained nineteen pounds in weight by taking Tanlac and am so well and strong I actually feel like a new person. Two years ago I had an awful attack of influenza. I lost thirty-four pounds in weight and was so thin I was only a shadow of my former self. After getting up from this sickness, instead of getting stronger, I seemed to linger along. Finally my appetite left me completely, and my stomach was so weak I just had to live on bread and milk. I got so weak I couldn't even stand up, and I thought my time for this world was getting short.

"After seeing so much in the paper about Tanlac I decided to try it, and my faith in it was well founded. Today I'm in fine health again. My appetite is simply splendid, everything agrees with me, and I sleep better and feel better than I have in years. I'm doing all my housework and it doesn't tire me a bit. I just know there's nothing like Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. F. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

TO AID UNEMPLOYED

President Harding to Call National Conference to Discuss Problem

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—President Harding will call a national conference, representative of the whole country, to meet here next month to inquire into the unemployment problem.

Announcement of the president's intention was made last night by Secretary Hoover, who was asked to formulate plans for the gathering. These, he said, would be ready for the president within 10 days.

"The object of the conference," Mr. Hoover said, "will be to inquire into the volume of needed employment, the distribution of unemployment, to make recommendations as to measures that can properly be taken in co-ordinated speeding up of employment by industries and public bodies during the next winter, and, in addition, a broad study of economic measures desirable to ameliorate the unemployment situation and give impetus to the recovery of business and commerce to normal."

"Many constructive suggestions have been made to the department by employers, governor of states and by city officials."

While it has been determined to keep the number at the conference as small as possible, he said, so that the work may be done with expedition, it is intended to invite representatives of the greater groups of industries and thought and the co-operation of national organizations will be sought to their selection.

The personnel of the conference, Mr. Hoover added, will be made up so as to represent the country geographically. The commerce department is to co-operate with the labor department on representation of labor.

"While the business situation is steadily improving," Mr. Hoover stated, "some sections of the workers may have exhausted their savings by the coming winter, and they must be a matter of extreme solicitude."

"It is inconceivable that America, with its surpluses in food and clothing, with housing—though crowded—and with an abundance of fuel, could allow any suffering amongst those of our own people who desire to work."

Cause 75 P. C. of All Matrimonial Disasters, Says Chicago Minister

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—A "university for the education of mothers-in-law" was advocated by Rev. Charles B. Stevens of the Third Presbyterian church in a sermon last night.

He asserted the mother-in-law problem had ceased to be a joke. "Seventy-five per cent. of all matrimonial disasters are precipitated by her interference," he asserted. "She is an outlaw instead of an in-law."

JUSTICE FOR IRELAND

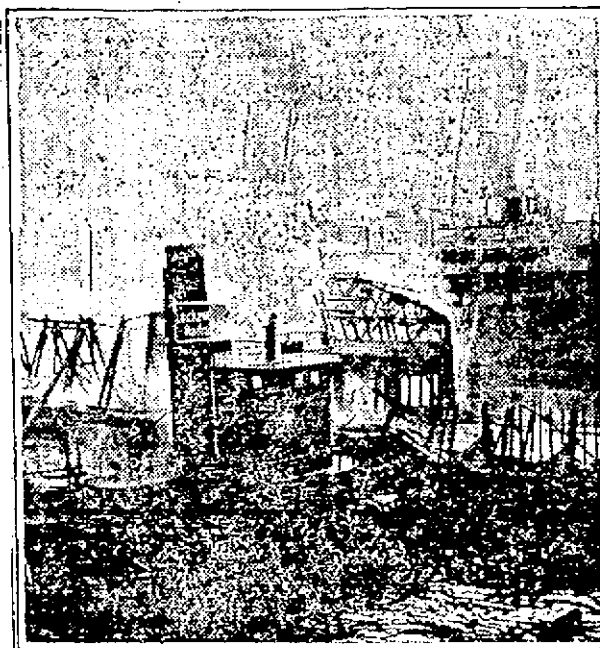

Demand of A. A. R. I. R. Meeting—Cable Sent to Lloyd George

At a largely attended meeting of the O'Connell district board, A.A.R. I. R., held in A.O.H. hall last evening, action was taken in opposition to the movement for disarmament and the refunding of the war loans to the allies; and it was the sentiment of the meeting that such opposition would be maintained by the entire organization throughout the country until such time as justice is done to Ireland. The meeting also adopted a resolution to be cabled to Lloyd George expressing disapproval of his offer of settlement as inadequate and urging the recognition of the Irish republic. The other business of the meeting had reference mainly to arranging for the field day to be held at Spaulding park on Labor day for the benefit of the Irish refugee fund.

Mr. John Barrett, president, occupied the chair and read a number of communications from headquarters. Among the speakers heard at the meeting were Rev. Fr. McDermott, O.M.I., Wm. Collins of Pittsford and Stephen Flynn. The speaker dealt with the negotiations now in progress for a settlement of the Irish question and pointed to the attitude of Ulster as one of the chief obstacles, although the British premier, it was claimed, could easily bring the matter into line with the rest of Ireland. One of the speakers dealt with the subject of disarmament—a movement which he claimed would benefit England more than any other country. He also referred to the proposed refunding of the war loans, claiming that the United States should insist upon payment and should not allow a matter of such vast importance to be decided by any treasury official.

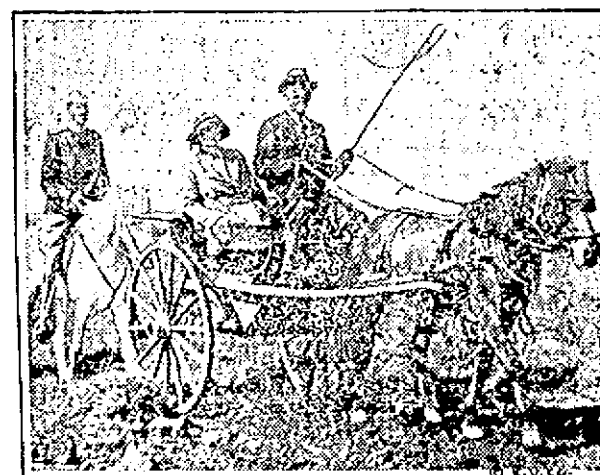

The arrangements for the field day, include a parade from the South common to be escorted by the Irish Pipe band of Worcester. The various councils are preparing lists of Gaelic games and field sports. It was announced that the committee in charge of the arrangements would hold a meeting tomorrow evening. The local councils were requested to seek the co-operation of their respective pastors in announcing the field day demonstration from their pulpits next Sunday. It was also announced that the Paul Kitteredge council would meet at the Y.M.C.I. hall this evening to make arrangements for turning out in the parade. Towards the close of the meeting, Mr. William Collins, who is a director in the state organization, congratulated the Lowell councils upon their activities and earnest efforts in working for the cause of Irish freedom. The board will meet again next Sunday evening.

SAY PRISONERS COAXED GREEN FLAG RAISED AT IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN HOSPITAL

THE "BONES"

Two ivory bones, with ebony spots, Off lead to cemetery lots.

Thus used to warble the famed Bert Williams, Frank Fernandez, Tony Pastor, Joseph Shilvar, Aneto Silva, and John Martin apparently disregarded such dangers, for they were coaxing, teasing and petitioning the cubs right slap in the middle of Cushing street, according to testimony in the district court this morning. Then came Sgt. Winn, with Officers Cooney, Clark, and Moore, armed with the panoply of the law, and in no mood to allow gumming on the Lord's day.

There were twenty-five devotees of the goddess Chance in the Cushing street assemblage. Officer Cooney, with one fellow swoop, the custodians of justice pounced upon the engorged players. The defendants were the hindmost and were garnered in even as the sheaves of the harvest. One of the quintette, stated Officer Cooney, sought the delights of freedom by leaping a fence with considerable agility, but he was relentlessly pursued, and this morning he graced, with his companions, the space before the bench.

The alleged fracturers of the Sabbath calm with ungodly sports offered no defence. The tax per individual was $5, and each succeeded in producing the assessment.

EX-MAYOR CROWLEY OF NASHUA DROPS DEAD

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 29.—James B. Crowley, who served five years as mayor of this city, retiring from office a year ago, died suddenly today while on an outing at Bethel, Me. He only recently returned from a Boston hospital, where he had been under treatment for a heart affection.

Ex-Mayor Crowley of Nashua was well and favorably known in Lowell, where he had often visited his sister, Mrs. Peter W. Reilly of the Oaklands. He was also prominent in Knights of Columbus circles and was well known and highly esteemed by many members of the Lowell council.

"NO MAN'S" WOOD LOT CAUSE OF TROUBLE

A complicated litigation over a tract of land on the Massachusetts-New Hampshire border, to which the title is disputed, resulted in the appearance of Lawrence Plate in the district court today on charges of stealing wood. It appears that Plate was hired by one party in the dispute to cut wood on the land. A continuance was agreed upon with the understanding that no wood would be cut in the interim.

Mr. Root has been named by five countries: France, Brazil, Bolivia, Venezuela and Uruguay.

"Out You Go," Say Officers

to appear in court. An exception will be made to this rule, declared His Honor, when some special circumstances of aggravation surround the arrest. If the officer states that he has received a complaint of other misconduct in connection with the intoxication, even first offenders will be haled before the bench.

Recently Made Public

Recently Judge Enright made public his intention of having all drunkenness defendants held for a hearing before the court, regardless of whether it was their first, or a later offence. It had been the custom to release first offenders before the morning court session, unless they had committed some other misdemeanor while drunk. "I think the public should know what is going on in this city," was His Honor's expressed reason for this change, which was in line with the determination of the police to stamp out moonshine making and drinking in Lowell. It was felt that a campaign of "pitiless publicity" might serve to ameliorate the situation here, by giving pause to those who otherwise would not hesitate to sample the product of local hooch makers. However, large numbers of drunkenness defendants greatly predominating over all other offenders, continued to be the rule, and Saturday His Honor threatened to take even more drastic measures to halt the general debauchery. His threatened in open court to send to jail those arrested for drunkenness for the first time.

Pitiable Phase

However, over the week end, another, and a very pitiable phase of the situation was brought to Judge Enright's attention, when he received a number of tragic pleas from the families of men lured by the free-flowing liquor of Lowell. Sons and daughters of men exposed in court as victims of intoxication resought His Honor to spare them the shame of publicity. Impelled by feeling for these innocent victims of the local conditions, His Honor determined to revert to the less stringent practices which had been abolished for a time. "I felt," he stated this morning, "that the members of the families of these men, guilty of no wrong doing themselves, should be spared, if at all possible, the mental anguish of having their dear ones publicly disgraced by being brought before the bar in open court." His Honor added that after giving the matter lengthy consideration, and balancing the rights of all concerned, he has come to the conclusion that justice can be served and unnecessary pain can be spared to wives and little ones, by less severity to those who have fallen into the clutches of bootleggers, hipsters and other varieties of booze vendors for the initial time.

The Old Policy
The old policy, of release for first offenders guilty of nothing but voluntary drunkenness, was again put in practice this morning by order of the court, shortly before the regular morning session opened at 10 a. m. The dock, crowded with prisoners, was emptied of first offenders who had in no other way violated the law save by intoxication. This action was taken only a few moments before the court entered, and created some comment, but Judge Enright later in the morning issued his statement in explanation of his action.

Labor Protests

son and has been backed up by the personal visit of a delegation, representing the council.

The Trades and Labor council at its last meeting went on record as favoring the purchase of the gas plant and felt that any election on the matter should be held on a day when no other issue is to be decided. The mayor informed the delegation which waited upon him that the matter was one for the entire municipal council to decide. He assured them that their protest would be read at the next meeting of the city council. The labor men feel that holding both elections on the same day will tend to confuse the issue.

Another question will be the fate of the three loan orders of Commissioner Murphy of the street department, aggregating $105,000, to complete paying, macadam and sewer work planned for this year. The $12,000 loan order to take over land in the Highlands for a playground will also come up, in the probability that the city will receive the drawing of jurors and other routine business will also engage the attention of the council.

Littie Marie Jones, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Jones of 48 White street, is in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital, as a result of burns she received late Saturday afternoon, while playing with matches near the home of her uncle, Mr. George H. Cogrove, 33 White street. It was only a half hour before the accident that Mr. Jones took a basketful of matches away from the child. Later, however, she managed to get more matches and while playing with them in the yard, her clothes became ignited. Her shouts attracted the attention of Mrs. Cogrove, who quickly put out the flames with a rug, but not before the girl had been severely burned about the body. First aid was given her and then she was taken to the hospital, where it was stated her name is on the dangerous list, although her chances for recovery are fairly good.

DEFINITE IMPROVEMENT IN INDUSTRY NOTED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—Some lines of industry have shown definite signs of improvement during the last few weeks and the undertone of optimism, scarcely audible in the quiet recent past, can be heard more plainly, the monthly business review of the Fourth Federal Reserve bank said today.

Progress has been shown in iron and steel not only through seasonal spurts but through mid-season depression. The automobile business, although not satisfactory, has made considerable progress.

There are some people who have failed to see the light and are holding hard to the peak price policy, the statement said, adding that their high prices have placed a stumbling block in the path of business.

Later he visited his birthplace at Riviere-du-Loup, Que., which he had not seen for 42 years. A pleasant incident in connection with his trip was the meeting of an old friend, Louis Feltner, assistant secretary of state at Ottawa, whom he had not seen for 25 or 30 years. Mr. Feltner is 72 years of age and is still enjoying good health. The pair traveled together from Ottawa to Riviere-du-Loup.

CLOSELY ESCAPES PRISON SAYS JUDGE

Possibly escaping twenty years in state's prison, according to the court, Joseph Kozol got off with three months in jail in the district court this morning, because of reluctance to testify against him by the woman he was charged with seeking to assault. Kozol was booked on a drunkenness complaint, but Chief Cullinan of the District police testified that the real status of the case was far more serious than mere intoxication, as far as his investigations could discover. Kozol had attacked a married woman at Dracut, in the presence of her children, according to the chief. Mr. Cullinan, however, added that he was unable to persuade the alleged victim to appear and testify against the defendant. Judge Enright stated that possibly Kozol might have got twenty years, had it been possible to bring out all the facts of the matter. As it is, a stiff sentence was handed out on the drunkenness charge. The defendant appealed and was held in $200 bonds.

PARCEL POST GROWING

According to figures recently compiled at the local postoffice the volume of parcel post articles handled here is increasing by leaps and bounds. The number of parcel post articles weighing more than 4 pounds delivered in this city by motor vehicles during the fiscal year ending June 1921 was 375,150. Some idea of the immensity of these figures will be gained by the additional statement that during the same period in 1918 the number of such parcels delivered was 179,654. The number of insured parcels despatched during the past fiscal year was 513. During 1917 the number of such parcels despatched was only 527. According to local postal authorities these are only a few features to show the upward tendency of the postal business which is handled in the restricted space in the local office.

ACCIDENTAL LOVE

Jean Riley

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—It took an automobile accident, resulting in a fractured skull and internal injuries, to bring about a reconciliation between Mrs. W. T. Mooney, film actress known as Jean Riley, and her husband. She was suing for divorce, charging extreme cruelty and non-support when—

She and friend husband were out driving and, as usual, quarreling. In a dispute over a ring which he had promised her, she grasped his hand to remove the ring—and awakened in a hospital. A telephone pole had stopped the automobile, and, incidentally, the spat.

In the hospital mutual forgiveness was in order. Now they're both glad the accident occurred.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published here.

THE PUBLIC PEACE

The newspapers have played an important part in helping to preserve the public peace. When the story is written of all that they have done to assist in bringing to justice criminals, who otherwise would have gone free from punishment, a striking chapter in the annals of crime will be available.

Murderers, almost without number, have been brought to the bar of justice by the newspapers working in conjunction with and assisting the police.

It was the intelligence and thoughtful analysis of a journalist that forced upon the Boston police department reluctant action which led to the arrest of the murderer Richeson after the authorities had publicly announced that his unfortunate victim had committed suicide.

It was the newspapers which gathered in the face of opposition, and placed slowly together, the evidence that led to the arrest and final conviction of Charles Tucker on the charge of murdering Mabel Page.

The list might be continued almost indefinitely. In most cities the police authorities long ago learned the value of the help that the newspapers can give to them. They understand and appreciate fully the value of widespread publicity in the detection of criminals.

In Lowell we have a rather unusual condition of affairs. A large part of the news regarding the commission of crimes is kept hidden from the press and the public at least for a time. Under the impression that if the newspapers say nothing about it, the culprit will be thrown off their guard so as to be more readily captured. On this point the police are mistaken for the reason that once the news of a crime is published, the citizens in general become interested and if they get any further information bearing on the case, they will convey it to the newspapers or the police. If there is any detail that for a good reason the police do not want published, no decent newspaper will fail to honor their request.

The newspapers are not primarily interested in the question of whether or not a policy of suppressing the news shall be followed. As has recently been shown by a leading paper in Portland, Me., it is easily possible for a newspaper to organize its forces in such a way that it can gather the criminal news of the day so fully and completely as to force the officials to adopt a policy of publicity to save themselves from public ridicule.

It is the law-abiding citizen who needs the protection that comes from making police activities, except in unusual cases, matters of open record to the public press. If there are burglars, pickpockets, or other types of criminals in the city, the people have a right to know the facts, that they may take steps to protect themselves and their property.

They also have a right to the records of the police department that may have available information as to whether the officers are properly performing their duty.

The public safety requires that the records shall be public except in those rare instances where there is a possibility that the course of justice might be interfered with by too early publicity.

FUTURE OF FLYING

Airship flying will soon be so common and extensive that a raft of lava will be necessary to control it. This will require an amendment to the constitution, says a report to the American Bar association by its special committee on aviation.

The lawyers, having provided legislation covering about everything that can happen on land and under the sea, are eager to try their hands at air laws.

Accidents, such as the death toll when a dirigible crashed through the skylight of a Chicago bank, have given an inkling of dangers in store for those on ground when flying machines become as common as flippers.

Some city councils have provided or are considering ordinances making it illegal to fly over congested districts.

This, the lawyers argue, is going to lead to repelling make a local air-control law. And, they say, the air plane will be a vehicle of long trips, a flier won't know what to do along the route to keep the air traffic cops from his heels.

Hence, the lawyers urge, there should be a constitutional amendment, giving the national government complete jurisdiction over the air.

One of the first questions to be thrashed out is: How far into the air does a real estate holder own? Is a flier guilty of trespassing if he clears your chimney only by a few inches?

The lawyers say we're all wrong in the notion that the airplane is primarily a military device. They consider that, in the future, and not far off, the commercial and economic use of the airship will be of first importance.

Flying already is being put to odd uses.

Rich ranchers fly over their properties, inspecting as much in a few hours as their cowboys could in a week.

Flying rangers patrol for forest fires. Engineers use airplanes to select best railroad routes.

Scientists recently photographed, from the air, the San Andreas Rift—line of the 1857 and 1906 earthquakes in California. They say they learned much about geological "faults"—and hence may be able to locate possible danger sections.

Harry A. Carver, farmer near Troy, O., has a grove of 5000 Catalpa trees. It requires several days to spray it with hand pumps, so he hires an aviator, who does the spraying in 20 minutes.

Those incidents fire the imagination. They conjure up visions of a day when the airplane may be as much a necessity as a telephone or motor car.

Skeptical scoff, but it is not a possibility for the flying machine to displace the railroad as a carrier of passengers and express—and even freight.

But we don't grow wings this side of the grave. Our descendants will spend most of their time on ground. They'll require laws protecting them from overhead dangers. It's time we began to think about those laws.

THE IRISH PROBLEM

If Lloyd George wants to facilitate the settlement of the Irish question and pave the way for peace and future prosperity in that unhappy land, the first thing he should do is to induce the Ulster minority to join the people of the other province in working for a settlement that will apply to all of Ireland and at the same time overcome the sectional differences that have recently under government auspices, threatened to partition the Irish nation.

The one great stumbling block to a settlement that would be readily accepted by the Irish people is Ulster; and for that condition, Lloyd George and the recent partition act are largely responsible.

The British premier can bring Ulster into line if he so desires. In Ulster there are extremists who affect to be more loyal to the empire than the king; but these are probably in the minority even in the Ulster strongholds of Antrim, Down and Derry.

In a speech delivered by the premier on Saturday at Barmley, he attacked extreme prejudice on both sides.

"The following statement is rather surprising coming from Lloyd George relative to Ireland:

"We have all got prejudices," he declared. "I have seen anti-Irish prejudices lashed into unreason and I have seen anti-English prejudices on the other side lashed into unreason. For God's sake let us clear aside prejudices. A nation that lives on prejudices is doomed. Just like a man who lives on hatred."

"Whether it is in public or in private trust, no man can endure who has a vendetta in business or politics, and a nation's vendettas are no just the same.

Evidently the premier has seen a new light and if it causes him to convince Ulster of the absurdity of his position in assuming either to secede from the rest of Ireland or to dictate the national policy, he will have overcome the chief difficulty that lies in the way of a settlement acceptable to all the people.

What is wanted above all is a united Ireland, one and indivisible. The Irish leaders regard the premier's offer of dominion home rule as leaving Ulster out of the compact.

THE HERALD'S BIRTHDAY

The Sun extends its congratulations and good wishes to the Boston Herald on its 75th birthday which it celebrated by issuing a diamond jubilee edition Sunday.

Included in the issue is a letter from President Harding. It was a half-page in length and expressed a grateful appreciation of the paper than he has done in the words:

"As a newspaper maker myself, I intend a compliment to the Herald when I say that not many public men could have agreed with it all the time, and that few indeed could have entertained any other than an attitude of respect for it and confidence in its sincerity of purpose."

The Herald has had not only a long and useful career, but it has also had an unusually interesting one. In its earlier years it was of the type that would today be called the "yellow." (It criticized in unmeasured terms men and policies which it did not like. What, however, its criticisms were so manifestly and so thoroughly honest that even public men who were most violently assailed had to acknowledge the Herald's honesty of purpose.)

A narrow picture of John H. Holmes looks out from the columns of the jubilee edition. His influence in bringing the Herald to a high standard of success was profound. It was his policy that made the paper a power editorially. He wrote but little himself, but had the faculty of getting other men to do good work.

His most remarkable achievements were in the news-gathering field. It might be said of him that he was of the highest type of successful "news-paper man" one who possesses the faculty of getting the news before the public in an acceptable form and in the shortest time.

Under Robert Lincoln O'Brien, as editor, The Herald has developed to the point where it is one of the most highly creditable and successful newspapers of the country.

ONE-ARM LUNCHES

The commission on the necessities of life has been looking into the prices charged for food in the so-called one-arm lunches with rather startling results. It finds that the margin charged for an order of beans where the patrons have to be their own waiters is too high; the charge for other orders is equally open to criticism so that there is good reason why such places should either reduce their prices or else give more for the price charged. It was on the assumption that they could sell prepared food cheaper than other restaurants that they dispensed with waiters. They should not forget the prime purpose of the one-arm lunches.

BANDLEADER DEAF

Souza, king of bandmasters, confesses that he has been hard of hearing for some time, and couldn't hear much more than a jumble when his men played.

How could he direct a band when he couldn't hear how they were playing? The answer probably is, that Souza has his musicians so well trained they didn't require directing in the emergency.

An organization runs along automatically when built up and perfected by a genius like Souza. Memoranda, acquired from its creator, carries it along.

RICH BOOTBLACKS

Five bootblacks, the Gregory brothers, will build a $100,000 hotel at Uniontown, Pa.

They saved the greater part of the million in 15 years since they came from Greece and opened a boot-black shoe shining "parlor."

That's what can be accomplished by "watching the nickels and dimes."

How many customers, whose tips helped the Gregorys reach the top, have accumulated $1,000,000? Probably none.

It looks now as if there may be great difficulty in getting coal when wanted on the arrival of cold weather. So many people are holding back on purchasing their orders, that the fall rush may cause prices to go higher. The profiteers are looking for such an opportunity.

MECHANIC PHALANX HAS A REUNION

The members of the Lowell Mechanic Phalanx, composed of former members of Company C, Sixth regiment, M.V.M., held a well attended reunion at their camp, in Tyngsboro, Sunday, and developed plans for further activities in the near future. It is planned to hold an outing at camp on Sunday, September 18, and a large attendance is expected.

Considerable work has been done during the past few months by the members, under the direction of the camp committee, an addition having been built to the kitchen and a large grove in the rear cleared of underbrush and a lawn laid from the veranda to the river bank.

Among those present at yesterday's meeting was Col. Alexander Greig, U.S.A., captain of Company C during the Spanish war, and now stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He spoke on his old days in Company C and congratulated the association on its splendid progress.

SEEN AND HEARD

The wife of a man who had enlisted in the navy handed the pastor of a church the following note:

"Peter Bowers having gone to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation for his safety."

The minister glanced over it hurriedly and announced:

A Land Chantey

I'd like to be a mariner and sail the seven seas From Rio to the Bering Straits where casks of whiskey freeze.

I yearn to voyage here and there to countries near and far, From Labrador to Hawaii, from Nome to Zanzibar.

I'm crazy to go streaming down, beneath a full white moon, The muddy Irrawaddy to the temples of Bangkok.

Or flit with dark eyed hounds through a lattice in Aklers, Or meet a priestly Tibetan who has not bathed for years.

I'd hail with joy a rickshaw ride along Calcutta's streets, I'd climb the Alps where still no doubt the untamed nanny bleats.

In Hongkong I would dearly love to drink a cup of tea, (The Bubbling Well Road has a most idream about Pacific Isles of coral reefs and palms.)

Or wallowing a lonely course, beset by storms and calms, But I am fated on the land forevermore to stay,

For I'm dreadfully seasick even when I go to blockaway.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I notice that Supt. Bowers of the street department is making good progress in patching some of the torn up streets. It is a simple process when the right method is adopted. Dashes of dry stone thrown into a hollow or break in the surface of a macadam or oiled street are soon scattered unless some hinder he applied.

Supt. Bowers is putting down patches that will become part and parcel of the concrete surface. In this way, a comparatively small expense, he can put many of the poorer streets in very fair condition.

The changes in progress at Lock street, will soon present a new square to the eye. It will be named in honor of some Lowell hero. It will be a welcome relief from the former conditions at that corner, which was regarded as one of the most dangerous in Lowell.

It has been remarked that quite a number of people who have no visible means of support and who do not appear to have any occupation to which they devote any regular portion of their time, are buying expensive autos in which they seem to be doing a good deal of pleasure driving. I am told that these gentry are in the liquor business. They import some and get the rest of their output from local distillers. They are the wholesalers and they have agents whom we call "bootleggers" going about giving out samples of the stuff they sell and telling the thirsty ones where and how it can be had on the "Q. T." It is pretty hard to catch these fellows as they are well rested in every method of fooling the police.

GOMPERS MAKES APPEAL DUBLIN BUSINESS MEN PREPARING FOR BOOM

Wants Labor Represented at Disarmament Conference in Washington

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 29.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, last night made public his appeal to the labor movements of the nations that are to participate in the forthcoming disarmament conference in Washington.

"The proposal to discuss means of lightening the tremendous burden of armament," said President Gompers in a statement accompanying the correspondence, "is one which interests the working people above others. From them came the first protests against enormous armament."

"The hope is repeated that the forthcoming conference in Washington may be attended by the highest possible degree of success. The labor movement in the United States will, in whatever way it may be possible, make every endeavor to be helpful to the cause of disarmament, but only through the opportunity to exercise a voice within the conference itself can it make available its full volume of counsel and co-operation."

Harding Expressed Interest

Mr. Gompers also made public correspondence with the White House in which he urged President Harding to appoint one or more representatives of labor to the American commission.

Support of the federation also was pledged to the president in his move to bring about disarmament.

President Harding in replying to Mr. Gompers thanked him for the federation's support and said that he would give consideration to the recommendation that a labor representative be appointed to the American delegation, which he characterized as a "very practical suggestion."

Mr. Gompers' statement said that President Harding at a conference with him had also "expressed himself as being favorably impressed with this suggestion."

President Gompers' Appeal

In his appeal to the labor movements of Italy, Great Britain, France and Japan, President Gompers said that they should be represented in the Washington conference as the "Rights and interests of the toilers will be no less intimately affected in the Washington conference than they were in the peace conference at Versailles, where their right to representation and participation was fully recognized and exercised."

"It is urged that the bona fide labor movements of all nations which are to participate in the forthcoming disarmament conference to be held in Washington insist upon representation in the various participating delegations," he continued.

"Experience has demonstrated time and again that no group of citizens in any country is called upon to make greater sacrifices, to endure greater privations or to suffer greater mental and physical anguish than are the workers of labor represented in the work of the world."

"History clearly reveals the fact that no group of people in any land is required to bear greater burdens or to suffer greater injustices and inequities in the aftermath of war than the workers."

"From the first," it added, "the American Federation of Labor has taken a leading part in bringing to the consciousness of the world the need for disarmament and the release of the workers from the terrible burdens and dangers created by great naval and military establishments."

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

Imprisoned

Oh, I walked the world a-swagger and I boasted I was free,
There was never woman living that could hold or fetter me,
Though I kissed and I philandered, it was all in merry jest,
And the lover's hungry longing never burned within my breast;
Then—your calm eyes looked upon me, I was slave to your command,
And my heart was in the hollow of your hand!

Now I walk the world a humbled, who was all so brave and bold,
I who boasted once of freedom, faith I'm easy now to hold,
Bound within a web of glamor which I have no will to break,
I am subject of your fancy—yours to rear and yours to make;
(Oh, your eyes are like warm waters sparkling over golden sand,
And my heart is in the hollow of your hand!)

WHERE MANY FLIERS MET DEATH

This is one of the last pictures of Lieut. Com. Maxfield who was to have commanded the ZR-2 in its flight across the Atlantic. Maxfield is here shown as he was about to enter the gondola of the dirigible, where many fliers met death. Standing in the door of the cabin is Lieutenant R. G. Pennoyer.

BEREAVED BY ZR-2 DISASTER

Mrs. Margaret J. Pettit, 326 East 35th street, New York City, and her young babe are two of those bereaved by the explosion of the ZR-2. Her husband, A. S. Pettit, was one of the non-commissioned officers sent to England to help fly the dirigible to America. He was lost in the disaster.

SAYS "SILESIA IS TORCH"

World's Greatest Pianist
Who Sacrificed Art for
Poland Tells Why

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Aug. 29.—"A torch that may start another world conflagration."

Thus Paderewski describes Upper Silesia.

The world's greatest pianist, who sacrificed his art and most of his fortune on the altar of patriotism, is preparing to sell his wonderful ranch in California.

In the vicinity of Paso Robles, a great almond-growing country, Paderewski owns 2,544 acres of choice orchard land. Within a few weeks all but 320 acres of Rancho San Ignacio will be sold at public auction. The 320 acres is in Madame Paderewski's name and will be retained for a time.

Back to Europe

Following the sale, in a few months, the Paderewskis plan to sail for Switzerland. Later they may return to Poland, but when is not decided.

Every day Paderewski practices at his piano for an hour. But this is behind tightly closed doors. Only Madame Paderewski is permitted to hear the master who once thrilled countless thousands.

Paderewski has no intention of playing in public again. A great artist must put his heart and soul into his art; Paderewski feels he cannot do this because of his intense interest in the affairs of his native Poland.

"I have not played in public for more than four years, and like every musician, he says, as he raises his right hand and slowly moves his fingers about.

"One cannot play the piano and politics together," says Madame Paderewski. "My husband never will go back to his music. There is too much else to do."

Expects Red Drive

The man who threw his all into Poland's centuries-long fight for freedom, whose personality and diplomacy won so much for the Poles at the peace conference, and who became Poland's first premier, is deeply concerned for his country's safety.

He inclines to the belief that another Bolshevik invasion of Poland is inevitable, unless the present famine causes the overthrow of the soviet government.

Poland is not seeking land, says Paderewski. The Polish people want justice—the justice which the treaty of Versailles intended to give them—and they will not be satisfied until they get it.

Paragraph 83 of the treaty gave Germany an advantage that the former premier does not believe was intended.

"Under this paragraph," he explains, "any person born in Upper Silesia, whether a resident of the district at the time or not, was entitled to vote at the plebiscite."

Taking advantage of this paragraph, 200,000 German subjects crossed into Upper Silesia to vote.

Certain districts, known to be made up almost entirely of German population, also were included in the plebiscite area.

All this contributed heavily to the German victory.

The Poles, he continued, revolted under the injustice, and despite the efforts of the Polish government a number of disorders occurred.

Action Taken

"The government exerted every effort to bring about peace," he said. "As soon as the disorders commenced the Polish frontier was closed and no one was allowed to enter the contested area."

"But the German frontier was not closed until many organized bands of Bavarians had crossed into Upper Silesia, starting a reign of terror."

"The Poles in the district were quick to see that Germany was waging an open war against them and, of course, they fought the invaders. Still, the Poles who are doing the fighting in Upper Silesia are strictly insurgents and not units of the Polish army."

"I deeply deplore the fact that my people should have found themselves in a position where many saw fit to resort to violence, but they simply revolted under the injustice."

Hopes for Reconciliation

Paderewski believes that the injury done Poland through paragraph 83 of the treaty of Versailles has been forcefully brought to the attention of the supreme council and the matter will be straightened out in the near future.

But just a little too much delay in righting the wrong, he added, may throw Europe into another war.

Madame Paderewski has a number of pictures of the hostels and orphanages she has established in Poland, France and England. Most of the children do not know who they are

How Pure Food Can Poison You

Waste matter in constipated bowels poisons blood and causes much disease. NR keeps system clean, prevents disease, makes body strong.

NR Works Wonders After Dietary Blunders

Let the proper digestion, assimilation and elimination process of the body mechanism be interfered with and the purest and most wholesome of food may be converted into dangerous, disease-breeding poison. Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrefaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body. The result is weakness, headache, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimply skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Can you afford to take chances with constipation? Why not begin today and take Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) each night for a week or so until your stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys are sufficiently strengthened to carry on the process of digestion and elimination unaided? You'll feel a lot better for it and you'll find yourself in better physical condition than you've been in many a day.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—sals, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve the condition for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of a medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition, and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Today marks the opening of the B. F. Keith theatre for its eleventh season of high class vaudeville, and the aim for the present week and for those weeks which are to come is to put forward the very best of variety acts obtainable.

Heading the present week's bill will be Ed. Pressler and Blanche Klaise, who are traveling in this section of the country for the first time and who will go to the Pacific coast before their season ends. "A Lively Duo" is the trademark for their act, which is a mixture of comedy, music and dancing. They were entertainers at the first vaudeville type, dwelling on different points just long enough to keep up the interest of their audience. It is unusual to headline a pair of performers, except in instances where they purvey a superior brand of entertainment, and Pressler and Klaise will surely do that.

Fare is good only when played with great speed, and so Eddie Carr & Company, in "The Office Boy" may be expected to fracture all of the speed rules for the stage. Carr is not unknown here. He is the little character of the act, which means that he is the freckle-faced youngster who introduces all comers to the grand moral.

Surprises that are worth while happen perhaps a dozen times in a season and Fred Fenton and Sammy Fields will spring one in "Apparatus in Person," the skit which they are offering. The nature of this surprise is kept a very dark secret. No surprise would be a surprise if one were thoroughly well tipped off about it, and so it can only be said that these two men are experienced funmakers who have hit on a novel idea.

Most of us have had our little trip to the seashore this summer, and are therefore in just the right mood to enjoy Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace in their ventriloquist novelty called "At the Seashore." It is true to the life, and tinged with laughs.

All the way from California comes Jean Lacrosse, a song-bird with beauty of face and figure as well as of voice. She rates up very highly in the list of vaudeville singers. "Phone and May" are a couple of young Chinese who give an American ting to their work, and the DeLoons are noted comedians and acrobats. Fathe Weekly, Topics of the Day and a comedy complete the week's bill.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE: "Snowblind," a gripping story of the lonely north, produced by Reginald

Barker and enacted by an all-star cast, is the feature attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. The story takes place in the Canadian northwest and has for a background perhaps the most beautiful mountain range on the American continent. "Bonnie May" (the other feature for the first half of the week) stars pretty Bessie Love in the role of a child of the theatre who is a combination of childish innocence and worldly wisdom. A Sunshine comedy, "The Night Before," and the International News round out the bill.

OPERA HOUSE:

With an entirely new cast and a repertoire of brand new plays, the opening of the stock season at the Opera House next Monday, matinee and night, should bring with it a welcome return of high-grade entertainment to playgoers of Lowell and vicinity. The vehicle to be used to introduce the new company will be Guy Bolton and George Middleton's new comedy of American home life, called "Adam and Eve." It will present every member to advantage, particularly the leading woman, Grace Scott, and the leading man, William Howard.

Gower Schacke and Resident Manager Cook have revised the schedule of weekly performances for the coming season and will have only four matinees on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, excepting on holiday weeks, such as the opening week, when an extra matinee will be held. The box office opens for the sale of tickets next Thursday. There will be a downtown ticket office at the Prince-

Walter Durgalow Shop in Merrimack street. Better order your tickets early for the opening performance.

THE STRAND

William Russell, who comes to The Strand for the first three days of this week, displays marked ability in the portrayal of western roles, particularly in "Colorado Pluck," his newest offering. He rides into the hearts of his admirers and holds attention up to the closing second. Contrary to natural expectations, "Colorado Pluck" is not a play confined to the American west. The scope, sweeping from the "every-man-his-own-law" atmosphere of the typical mining camp of frontier days in the west to the subdued atmosphere of European nobility. In it there are two laughs for every sigh and two thrills for every laugh. "Colorado Pluck" is the story of a successful western miner who visits New York's famous White Way, and eventually goes to England and marries the daughter of nobility—and then his worries begin. He soon discovers that the girl married him for his riches, rather than because of himself. A bad investment brings his financial standing down considerably and he then decides to come back to America to recuperate, and bring his wife along with him. She is reluctant to accompany him but he persists and when they do get here and get started right, things start to shape themselves satisfactorily. The story has a happy ending.

The romance of old California, its loves and battles, is amazingly depicted as the background for Carmel Myers' artistry in "The Kiss," her newest photoplay, which is to appear as the second feature on the bill. Johnston McCully wrote the story. It originally appeared in book form as "Latin Erotica." The story concerns a young girl, the daughter of a ranch foreman who loves the son of the owner of the ranch. A difference in cast restrains them until an amazing sequence of thrilling adventure levels the artificial barrier of birth and brings them together for a breath-catching climax. Miss Myers is amazingly pretty and her acting is good, while the support accorded her is excellent. A comedy and weekly go to make a good bill. Don't miss it.

PREDICTS PASSAGE

OF BONUS BILL

SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 29.—Belief that a soldiers' bonus bill will be passed by congress by December was expressed yesterday by Representative Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee, who has just arrived here from Washington.

"Passage of the bonus bill is the only honorable thing to do," he said. "The boys deserve it and shall have it."

He said he favored a 1 per cent. wholesale sales tax as a means of raising money with which to pay the bonus.

Discussing the tariff, Mr. Fordney said that with the exception of the wool schedule he expected the tariff bill to be but little changed from the form in which it passed the house.

A PLANE THAT FOLDS ITS WINGS

PASADENA, Aug. 27.—The airplane that folds its wings has just been christened here. It will be called the G. E. Barnhart transport plane, after its designer. With a wingspread of over 75 feet, the plane, when folded, is only 22 feet wide, which makes it easily possible to tow it through city streets, and also save considerable space in hangars. Two 650 motors of 90 horsepower each drive the machine at 40 miles an hour, or it can be throttled down to 45 miles for cruising speed. Picture shows the plane folded for towing.

PLAN TO "BREAK" OLD STOCKING BANK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Postmaster General Hays has completed his draft of a postal savings bank and submitted it to Congressman Streator of the house postoffice and post roads committee, who will take it up when congress resumes the session. The features of Mr. Hays' scheme are these:

- Increase the rate of interest to be paid depositors from 2 to 3 per cent.
- Increase the maximum amount allowed each depositor from $2500 to $5000.
- Abolish the minimum limit age of 16 years.
- Authorize joint and trust accounts.
- Terminate the practice of surrendering deposits and receiving in lieu thereof United States coupon and registered bonds.
- Administrative changes will be made to extend postal savings facilities to as many as possible of the 33,000 post-offices. Deposits now are accepted at only about 6800 offices.
- The funds collected will be redeposited in local banks, and interest will be paid on deposits held less than one year.
- A campaign of education will be conducted and a finger-print system of identification extended as rapidly as possible.

"We do not want the deposits of savings banks," the postmaster-general said today, "but there is a tremendous amount of hoarded wealth in this country which is out of circulation now, and has not been coaxed out of hiding by either the savings banks or postal savings."

KING ALBERT WELCOMES LEGION DELEGATION

BRUSSELS, Aug. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The members of the American Legion who have been visiting France were met yesterday at the Belgian border by Belgian officials and escorted to Brussels. Brand Whitlock, the American minister, met them on their arrival here and accompanied them to the palace.

King Albert welcomed them "as soldiers of the right," and expressed the gratitude of the entire Belgian nation for the aid given by the United States in the world war.

The king conferred the decoration of the Order of Leopold I on Major John G. Emery, national commander of the Legion. Many other members received decorations.

15 IN DISABLED BOAT RESCUED

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 28.—Alexander Neto, a sailor on the U. S. S. Bushnell, did a meritorious piece of work yesterday afternoon. When near Cape Hedge, on Long Beach, near the Rockport line, he saw a disabled motor boat with 15 people on board being driven on the rocks, side to, and in danger of capsizing.

He swam out in the surf, gained the boat and succeeded in pointing her bow on toward land and throwing a line ashore. The line was grasped by those on the rocks, who pulled the boat to a place where the party were safely landed. Neto was much exhausted and was given dry clothing at a nearby summer cottage.

AVIATOR AND TWO PASSENGERS KILLED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Conrad W. Fox, an aviator, and two passengers he had taken up in his airplane, were killed late yesterday when the machine crashed to earth on the northeastern outskirts of the city. The other victims were Mrs. Mary Puszycki and her eight-year-old son of Philadelphia.

BIG $10,000 POSTOFFICE ROBBERY EXPOSED

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 28.—A $10,000 robbery in the postoffice department came to light yesterday when it was learned that two postoffice inspectors from Boston have been here a month investigating the disappearance of the currency on July 1. The money was in a package, made up of twenty fifty and one hundred dollar bills. The package was one of three taken to the New Haven postoffice by a bank messenger, who obtained three receipts at the registry window.

Two packages reached their destinations, but the $10,000 parcel, consigned to the National City Bank of New York from the Broadway Bank and Trust company of this city, failed to reach the New York institution. An official of the Broadway Bank and Trust Co. said today that the package was insured and the insurance company has paid $10,000 to the local bank. It was learned that the mail pouch in which the package was supposed to have been shipped to New York contained the same number of packages when it did when it left the local postoffice. Insurance company investigators are of the opinion that another registered package was substituted for the currency parcel in the pouch. No arrests have been made.

THE BEAUTIFUL WOMEN OF HISTORY GAVE MUCH TIME TO THE IMPROVEMENT OF THEIR COMPLEXION

It is said that the most beautiful women of history are the ones that spent most of their time in the cultivation, improvement and prolongment of the life of their beauty. They used all safe means they could find to accomplish this charm.

Black and White Beauty Bleach will remove skin blemishes, such as tan, sun and wind freckles, blotches, liver spots. It will clear your complexion—make your skin soft and youthful.

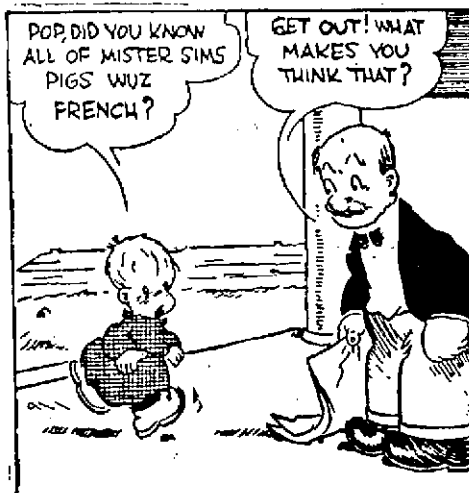

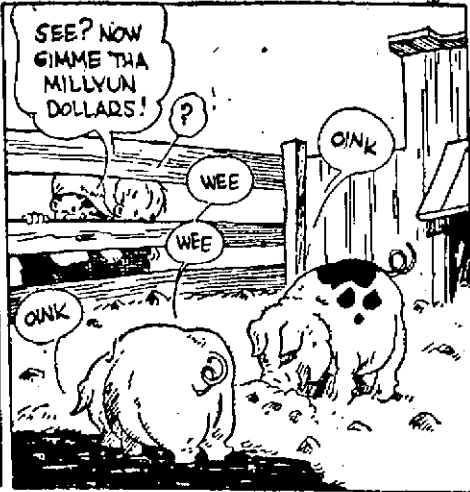

Black and White Bleach is a delightfully perfumed, pink-tinted cold cream compound, approved and used by particular women. It will not give hair on the face, and when applied forms an invisible coating on the skin.

Black and White Soap should always be used with Black and White Beauty Bleach. Its regular use will keep the skin in perfect condition. Clip and mail this advertisement to Black and White, Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn., for free literature, samples of Black and White Face Powder and Incense of Flowers Talcum Powder.

Announcements of Distinction

Advanced Portraiture

Because of the installing of a high power twin arc light (identical to those used in making the movies) I am prepared to accept appointments independent of weather or light conditions day or evening service, and as the studio is connected with residence, size outside of regular business hours will cause no inconvenience.

This new light is of extraordinary value in child photography with the novel lighting effects obtainable, and also insures that every day is a "good" day.

Garden Portraiture

The studio gardens with the many pleasing features have been designed not only to please the eye but to aid in producing "pictures." This style of out-of-door photography has made an instant appeal of its own wherever introduced in the larger cities; although previously because of circumstances on a limited scale in most cases only possible when the patron could provide the garden, etc.

Garden portraiture is especially desirable for ladies and children and gives unusually pleasing and picturesque results otherwise unobtainable.

Photographic results that in the past held and continually increased my patronage will not deteriorate under these improved working conditions, and these two announcements of distinction assure you of always receiving the very best that the art and science of modern photography can produce in pleasing pictures at my studio for photography.

For sittings appointments preferable, Lowell's photophone 2418.

SARADA MURLIN

When she's grown up she's going to be a lawyer or a politician, but just now, since she's only seventeen, she's content with running a business man's organization—or nearly so.

Poor Sarada Murlin is acting secretary of the chamber of commerce of Parsons, Kas.

Miss Murlin assisted in the office during its organization and, pending arrival of a regular secretary, has full charge. She is calling special meetings of committees to get work under way and sending out bulletins in addition to taking care of the financial work.

DYKES SETS AMERICAN
LEAGUE RECORD

NEW YORK, August 29.—An American league fielding record of 17 chances accepted by a second baseman, was set by Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday against St. Louis, the former mark of 16 being credited to D. B. Pratt, with the New York Americans last year. Dykes had nine putouts, one less than the American league record.

The Pittsburgh National league leaders ended their losing streak of six games when Morrison, pitching against Brooklyn, duplicated his three-hit shutout performance of two weeks ago against Chicago. The New York Nationals won their sixth successive game.

Outfielder Wood of Cleveland, batted in all three runs scored in his team's victory over Washington. He sent in two with a double and scored the other on his home run. The New York Americans lost ground in the league standing by their defeat by Detroit. Pitcher Alexander of Chicago, pitching the 50th game of his career against New York, met his 50th defeat.

GREEK RIGHT WING
MEETS DISASTER

CALICUT, India, Aug. 29 (By Associated Press).—The Mohlabi fanatics appear to be proclaiming a home rule in all the disturbed areas. Their emblem, the green flag, has been hoisted at Calicut.

Gandhi, the nationalist leader, has been invited by the Kerala provincial congress committee to visit Malabar at the earliest possible moment, in an attempt to pacify the Mohlabis.

A dispatch from Manerji says that trees have been felled across the roads throughout the district by rioters, and that bridges and culverts have been destroyed to obstruct troop movements.

Famine Threatened

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(By Associated Press).—The Indian office reports that the entire disturbed area of Malabar is now threatened with famine. Martial law has been applied to the Wadavann, Ponnal, Fernal, Calicut, Wynad and Kurnambran districts. A party from the British warship Comus has been landed at Calicut.

LAWYER DRAWS COURT'S REBUKE

Ordered Not to Address
Judge With Back Turned to Bench

Fine Promptly Assessed on Client of Attorney Who Offends

As the aftermath of an automobile accident yesterday, in which Supt. Whelan of the local street railway division and five others were injured, Fred W. McKee was before the district court this morning, charged with operating without a license, and Herman Weesner and John Higgins appeared charged with drunkenness. McKee was fined $20, and each of the other two defendants $15.

According to the district police McKee was driving a machine towards Lakeview Saturday night, when he struck from behind the car of which Supt. Whelan was an occupant, turning it on its side. Besides Whelan, his two daughters, together with Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Ellis and daughter Marion of Milton, were thrown out, and taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, suffering from lacerations and bruises. According to testimony this morning, McKee had no registration certificate with him. He declared on the stand that the certificate was in the car. In a pocket, but that he forgot its location. His father corroborated this. But the arresting officer testified to searching the pocket, and declared that there was no certificate there.

Counsel for McKee drew a rebuke from the bench when he said, while walking towards the rear of the court room, that he didn't see how the court could make a finding of guilty on the evidence. "Whom are you addressing?" inquired Judge Enright. "Your Honor," was the response. "Then turn around and do it," rejoined the court. The attorney then repeated. "In view of the testimony, I don't see how Your Honor can find anything but not guilty."

"Find him guilty, Mr. Clerk," said Judge Enright, assessing the fine, which was appealed. The other pair, said to have been in the car with McKee, and to have been under the influence of liquor, were then fined.

Higgins protested that "I only had two drinks. I wasn't drunk." "What were you drinking?" he was asked, and replied that it was moonshine. "We have men here every day," said His Honor, "who testify that they had only two drinks of Lowell moonshine, and who knew no more, and were found stretched out in streets and parks."

KEEPING WATCH WITH VIGILANCE

Watch and Ward by Young
Men Near Scene of Rolfe
Street Abduction

Police Claim They Gained
First Knowledge From Columns of The Sun.

There is no further development in the attempt at kidnapping which occurred last week in Rolfe street, but nevertheless, the male employees of the Bay State Cotton Corp. are keeping a vigilant eye on the district in an endeavor to capture the marauders, who for the past week or so have been terrorizing the young girls of the locality.

One of the officials at the police station said this morning that the first department learned about the alleged abduction was when an account of it was read in Saturday afternoon's issue of The Sun. He said he has enquired from several of the officers at the station, and all denied any knowledge of the crime. On the other hand, the mother of the young girl upon whom the assault was committed claims that she has notified the police station on two different occasions and she substantiates her statement by saying that Officer O'Neill and a motorcycle officer were sent from the station to the house to investigate.

Again it was learned that upon orders received from the police station, Officer Cudde, who patrols that beat during the day, called at the homes of some of the residents of Rolfe street and made inquiries relative to an alleged assault.

Work of Boys

That the novel break committed at the store of Harry Gonzales in Appleton street, last week, when four valuable revolvers and close to 100 cigars were pulled out of a showcase with the aid of wires and lumps, was the work of boys, is the statement made this morning by one of the officials at the police station. This officer stated that the police have a clue which may lead to one or several arrests within a few days. This break was committed three weeks after the police had been notified of a plot by four young men to enter the store at 2 a. m., and steal whatever they could lay their hands on.

NEW VARIATION OF AN OLD PHRASE

A variation of the phrase "going after a man hammer and tongs" came to light this morning in the district court, when Antonio Girondine was charged with going after a man with a hammer and chisel. "I was all lit up" was the defendant's pithy excuse. "Ten dollars," was Judge Enright's pithy sentence.

Cleophas Roudou, whilst combating the fumes of Lowell koch, took umbrage at a furniture man, who crossed his path in some manner, and became violent. It was testified. His bellicosity cost him $10.

Kleanthis Petropoulos was charged with assault and battery, but the complainant had a heart, and had his case filed.

DUBLIN, Aug. 29.—The delay in sending the reply to the latest message from Lloyd George has caused much curiosity here. It is due, it is thought, to the refusal of the republican cabinet to be rushed.

The disturbances in British India are being dealt much of here and the belief is expressed in high Sinn Féin quarters that England will find herself so busy there she will be willing to leave Ireland alone.

Austria Signed Last Wednesday and Germany the Following Day

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Signature of a treaty between the United States and Hungary set for late today, according to Budapest despatches, brings to an end peace negotiations entered into by the United States under President Harding with the central powers against whom the United States declared war in 1917. The treaty with Austria was signed last Wednesday at Vienna and that with Germany the following day at Berlin.

Officials here had not been apprised of the expected signing of the Hungarian treaty today, although it has been several weeks since U. Grant Smith, United States commissioner at Budapest, began negotiations with the Hungarian government.

Neither the text of the Austrian treaty nor details as to the Hungarian convention have been given out but it is generally believed in Washington that both follow closely the lines of the German treaty, the text of which was made public coincident with its signature.

Texas Wants Most Popular "Bud" of Lowell to Act as a Princess

Who is Lowell's most popular debutante? The state of Texas wants her to act as a princess to the international court of the queen of the pageant to be held in Dallas next October as the formal opening feature of the fair and international exposition marking the centennial of the state.

When she is found she will have the honor of attending court functions in Dallas for two weeks. She will be gowned in regular court regalia and will be attended by two ladies in waiting, a prince and two knights. She will enter the pages of romance with a big R.

Such is the gist of a letter which Mayor Perry D. Thompson received this morning from the committee in charge of the Texas centennial pageant. The committee invites the mayor to attend himself as well as to appoint the city's most popular debutante, the daughter of a prominent family, to enact the role of princess, representing Lowell at the royal court. The pageant is to be a very elaborate affair, according to the letter, with more than 5000 persons depicting the history of the state. The mayor is open to suggestions as to Lowell's most popular debutante.

Armored Cars Rush to Scene of Shooting and Bombing in Belfast

BELFAST, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Shooting and bombing occurred in North Queen street and along New Lodge road, Belfast, during the dinner hour today and it was necessary to send armored cars to patrol the locality. Two cases of bullet wounds were treated at a hospital, one man having been shot in the back.

Register "Kicks" and Thanks With Mayor

Mayor Thompson numbered among his visitors in his office at city hall this morning many members of the local police force who were affected by Saturday's appointments and changes. Some came to express their thanks while others came to register complaints against their new assignments. But all left seemingly satisfied after their interviews with the chief executive. The mayor will appoint new supernumeraries within a few days to fill in places which will be left vacant when he promotes a number of present supernumeraries to the rank of permanent patrolmen.

Whelan Committed in Insane Asylum

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Philip S. Whelan, former Boston policeman, who shot and killed Patrolman Andrew B. Cuneo, in front of the Hanover street police station a fortnight ago was committed to the insane department of the state hospital at Bridgewater today by the superior court. Two physicians who examined him reported him dangerously insane.

PLANS FOR CONFERENCE WAR CRAFT ANCHOR AT ON UNEMPLOYMENT PROVINCETOWN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Plans for President Harding's national conference on unemployment will probably be completed in time to permit the gathering to meet here by the middle of September. Secretary Hoover, charged with the conference arrangements, said today.

It was hoped to limit the conference to from 15 to 25 members, representing the country geographically, he explained. A small number is necessary, he declared, to permit constructive work and avoid "a debating society."

Controversial questions, such as the closed shop, wages or conditions of labor also will be avoided by the conference the secretary asserted, adding that its aim would be a definite program of unity of action by industry and the community at large to relieve the unemployment situation throughout the country.

An attempt to conceal his correct name failed to save Manuel Silva from a jail sentence in the district court this morning, on charges of illegally keeping liquor. Sergt. Michael H. Winn, who heads the new enlarged liquor squad, was the principal witness to being about a severe sentence for the defendant, who not only drew three months in the house of correction, but was also ordered to pay a fine of $150.

"This is a terrible place," he testified with reference to Silva's establishment in Melloy's court, which was raided yesterday afternoon by the sergeant together with Officers Clark, Cooney, and Moore. Many bottles of moonshine were found ingeniously concealed in a window, testified the sergeant. The blind of the window had been closed and the curtain pulled down. Between these two bits of camouflage the bottles stood in row until Officer Cooney, seized with inspiration, rolled up the curtain and disclosed the imposing array.

"One of the worst places in Lowell" was the way Sergeant Winn stigmatized Silva's place, and added that Mrs. Silva recently sold a bottle of hooch to a police representative.

When arrested yesterday the defendant gave the name of Manuel Mendez, it was testified. This morning Sergeant Winn accused him of concealing his true name. It appeared that "Mendez" is Silva's middle name. Consulting his notebook, the sergeant then made the revelation to the court that on July 12 Silva appeared on charges of illegal keeping, and paid a fine of $150. The jail sentence, combined with the fine, was then imposed. Silva appealed, and was held in bonds of $300.

POLICE AND MINERS CLASH

Battle at Beach Creek, Near the Logan-Boone County Line

Conflicting Reports Place Number of Wounded at From 4 to 14

One Report Says Four Officers Captured by Unidentified Men

CHARLESTON, W.Va., August 29.—Advices were expected today from Adjutant General Charnock and A. C. Porter of the West Virginia United Mine Workers' executive board who were doing missionary work in Logan county, following yesterday's reports to the governor that state police and deputy sheriffs had fought with armed men at Beach Creek, near the Logan-Boone county line. Mr. Porter carried with him an open letter from President C. F. Keeney of the miners' executive board to the Logan county miners, which delegated Porter as his personal representative to visit the scene of the reported trouble and to act for him. "I wish to request that you and each of you remain at your homes; assist in the preservation of law and order and refrain from any conduct other than what may be necessary to protect yourselves and families," the letter said.

Report Number Wounded
"I also urge that at the earliest possible moment you put all mines in your section in operation."
Reports received late last night and early today place the number of wounded during the reported shooting yesterday morning at from four to 14. None of the reports state definitely that any one was killed, although several hinted at probable fatalities. It is explained that the shooting took place before daybreak, and that in the darkness it was impossible to determine the extent of the wounds suffered by those said to have fallen.

Report Four Officers Captured
Captain Brogus in his report to Governor Morgan, stated that members of his detachment saw five of the opposing force fall to the ground. They were quickly picked up by their companions, however, and carried from the vicinity, while the state troopers retired. The captain's report continued, on account of the darkness which made it difficult to distinguish their own men from their adversaries.
Another report reaching the governor's office and made public, was that three deputy sheriffs and a justice of the peace named Fulton Mitchell, had been taken prisoners by unidentified men and were being detained at Clodier, Boone county, across the line from Sharples.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A pigeon which carried a message from Mayor Thompson of Chicago, to President Harding, in 16 hours actual flying time for the 614½ miles, broke a world's record, the department of agriculture announced today.

The bird was a product of the government's loft at Beltsville, Md.

22 RESCUED AS BOAT IS GROUND TO PIECES

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 29.—Twenty-two young people from Cambridge, Boston, Somerville and Salem narrowly escaped death at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the big powerboat "Killarney" was driven ashore and ground to pieces on the shore of People's beach here. About half the party were young women. They came here to attend a picnic of the Boston Gaelic school.

When the "Killarney," its engine stalled, reached shallow water the entire party jumped over the side into the wild surf. All of them reached shore with difficulty.

Timothy J. Harrington, the pilot of the little craft, had missed the harbor mouth in coming up along the coast and when he stopped off Hedges Point to take a small boat ashore to find out his position the anchor failed to hold, and the heavy surf dashed over the engine short-circuiting it so that the boat drifted helplessly ashore.

Before the coast guard could reach them the power boat was on the beach, just missing by a few feet the ledge at Hedges Point, one of the worst places on the north shore. As they came into shallow water the men jumped into the surf and rescued the young women, taking them ashore in their arms. Many cottagers braved the surf and aided in bringing the women ashore. All were thoroughly wet from the spray, which dashed continually over the boat as it drifted toward the shore.

Summer residents in nearby cottages took the party in and gave them an opportunity to dry their clothes before returning home. The "Killarney" was smashed to pieces, as the surf was one of the highest this season.

GERMAN CABINET IN PREDICAMENT

Murder of Erzberger Appears to Have Set Match to Pile of Combustibles

Acceptance of Responsibility for War in Treaty With U. S. Brings Attack

BERLIN, August 29. (By the Associated Press.)—Political conditions in Germany, which during the past few days have assumed a grave aspect, were considered by the cabinet today. President Ebert presided over the session which was called on Saturday. In such a way as to show that the ministry was concerned over the situation. The assassination of Matthias Erzberger last Friday has appeared to have set a match to the piled up combustibles, which have been smoldering for some time, and the cabinet is believed to find itself in a serious predicament.

One of the features of the situation which is troubling the government is the attitude of organized labor, supported by the socialist and communist parties. In demanding the definite suppression of the activities and machinations of the Pan-Germans. This party has been unusually active of late, holding battle anniversaries, "steel helmet" athletic meets, "front troops" reunions and other affairs at which Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, General Ludendorff and other military leaders have been present. These functions have, for the most part, taken on the character of anti-republican manifestations.

The government must decide in the next few days whether it will call the reichstag into session before September 27, the date fixed for that body to meet. There is a disposition on the part of Chancellor Wirth not to take this action because of his desire to avoid debate upon the American peace treaty before that pact is ratified by the United States senate. It is a foregone conclusion that the nationalists, if the reichstag should convene, would promptly attack the government because of its acceptance of paragraph 231 of the treaty, by which Germany and her allies accepted responsibility for the war.

Ratification of the treaty is believed to be certain in the reichstag through the votes of the three coalition parties and the independent socialists, which command 271 out of the 493 votes in the reichstag.

The government is about to undergo a decisive test in the reichstag in connection with the forthcoming tax legislation and other measures and its work is being vastly increased by the feeling aroused over the Erzberger episode.

MASS MEETING INDORSES DISARMAMENT PLANS

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Several thousand people on Boston common voiced their approval of disarmament yesterday afternoon, at the close of an address given by Will Irwin on "The Next War." The meeting, held under the auspices of the Women's Trade Union League, was composed chiefly of the throng which gathered to hear the Caruso tribute. Councilor James T. Moriarty presided and Miss Anna Welstock, president of the Women's Trade Union League, introduced the speaker.

Speaker Irwin was given an enthusiastic welcome. He said in part: "The last war really began in 1879, and the next war is beginning now. We must meet it in time and not wait till it is knocking at our doors. It is the duty of every man and woman to be concerned in preventing wars. Something has to be done about the war or the race will be exterminated."

"During the world war the code of war was broken, for example, by poisonous gas attacks. Now the scientist has busied himself here and in Germany perfecting a gas more deadly than that used in the world war. Instead of what we had in the last war, we may by the newest developments have a medium to shrivel and paralyze; we shall have a vital germ warfare that will kill by the wholesale."

"What Col. Swinton, the inventor of the tank, predicted at a meeting of officers in England in 1914 in next war is destined to kill millions, to banish civilization from the earth."

"Already it has been suggested by a French officer that women are to be trained in peace time as well as men, so that every woman may step to her appointed place when war breaks out and go to work—then there will be a holocaust of women."

"In the event of war the first day would see the destruction of humanity by a deadly gas."

"German chemists were ready with bacteria for the gas war before the last war closed, and the English scientist has perfected anthrax bombs to be turned loose, if necessary."

"The proposition of the United States revenue expended in army and navy debts, pensions and the like, is 68 per cent."

"It is for you and for me, and for the people of the United States. England, France and Japan to start forcing the politicians to stop war; it is for us to impress on the United States the importance of it. Now is the appointed hour, and disarmament cannot come without us.

"In the 20th century everybody seems to be imitating the Roman Empire. We are going to make this decision: 'Whether we are going to live in a shady house of cards or in a house not built with hands.' Resolutions were accepted urging the representatives of the United States in the disarmament conference to establish a permanent international court representative of the people, as well as governments, for the settlement of international disputes; for the codifying of international law; and for the promotion of co-operative action that matters of mutual dependence may be dealt with scientifically for the good of all mankind.

The resolution also asks for disarmament and establishment of peace and normal conditions in life for its importance to women as well as men, and asks that President Harding appoint a woman to serve in the interests of American women at the conference in Washington.

INCREASE TAX AVERAGE HIGH IN MASS.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Malcolm E. Nichols, collector of internal revenue, in a statement issued yesterday tells how much the people of Massachusetts contribute towards the swelling of Uncle Sam's bank account by the income tax alone.

Federal personal income taxes filed in Massachusetts in 1919, he says, reached a total of 265,307, which was 5.03 per cent. of the entire number in the United States. The total net income reported by these returns was $1,090,305,055, while the tax paid on them was $56,556,933, which was 5.19 per cent. of the total personal income tax paid in the entire country.

In the nation at large 5.03 per cent. of the people filed personal income tax returns, while in Massachusetts 6.36 per cent. filed them. The average net income per return for the United States was $374.05, and in Massachusetts it was $405.52. The personal income tax per capita for the United States amounted to $11.95, and in Massachusetts it was $22.47. The average amount of personal income tax per return in the United States was $235.05, and in Massachusetts it was $322.64.

Massachusetts' position in the order of magnitude as to all the states and territories in the Union, in the per cent. of population filing returns, was 12th, and 6th in the average net income per return. Its position as to per capita income tax was third, and third in the average amount of tax per return.

The number of personal income tax returns filed for the years 1916, 1917, 1918 and 1919 in Massachusetts, as well as the amounts of net income and tax, are shown in the following table:

No. of Returns Net Income Ttl T

RAID AT SALISBURY

SALISBURY BEACH, Aug. 29.—The police, headed by Chief Harold F. Congdon, late Saturday night, raided the Castle Manna hotel, Samuel Consoil, proprietor, and seized a quantity of liquor.

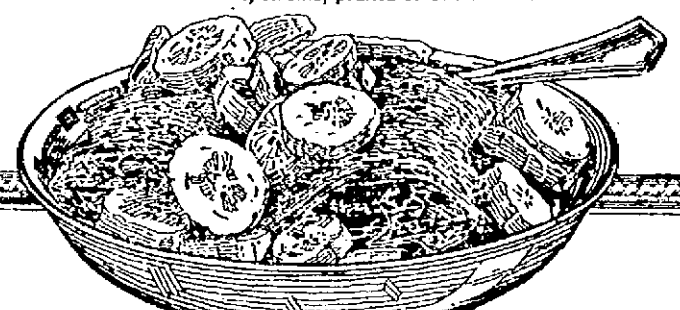

A Great Food Discovery

From Rameses' I to the present time the whole wheat grain has been the most perfect food given to man. It contains in proper proportion all the elements needed for building and sustaining the perfect human body. The problem has been how to make the whole wheat grain digestible in the human stomach. That problem was solved by the man who invented

Shredded Wheat

In making Shredded Wheat Biscuit the whole wheat grains are first thoroughly cleaned (no small, broken or defective grains are used), then boiled in steam. The softened grains are then drawn into filmy, porous shreds, which are formed into biscuits (or little loaves) and baked in coal ovens at a high temperature. This process breaks down the starch cells in the center of the wheat so the digestive fluids can get at them. The mineral salts and vitamins (so necessary to normal growth) and the bran, which is needed to stimulate "bowel exercise," are retained.

Delicious for any meal with milk or cream, sliced bananas, raisins, prunes or other fruits.

PASADENA, Aug. 27.—The airplane that folds its wings has just been christened here. It will be called the G. E. Barnhart transport plane, after its designer. With a wingspread of over 75 feet, the plane, when folded, is only 22 feet wide, which makes it easily possible to tow it through city streets, and also save considerable space in hangars. Two 6x5 motors of 90 horsepower each drive the machine at 90 miles an hour, or it can be throttled down to 45 miles for cruising speed. Picture shows the plane folded for towing.

SAY PRISONERS COAXED GREEN FLAG RAISED AT IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN HOSPITAL

Two ivory bones, with ebony spots. Off lead to cemetery lots.

Thus used to warble the famed Bert Williams. Frank Fernandez, Tony Fernandez, Joseph Shultz, Aneto Silva, and John Martin, apparently disregarding such dangers, for they were coaxing, teasing and petitioning the cubel right slap in the middle of Cushing street, according to testimony in the district court this morning. Then came Serri, Winn, with Officers Cooney, Clark, and Moore, armed with the panoply of the law, and in no mood to allow gaming on the Lord's day.

There were twenty-five devotees of the goddess Chance in the Cushing street assembly, declared Officer Cooney. With one fell swoop the custodians of justice pounced upon the engrossed players. The defendants were the hindmost and were garnered in even as the sheaves of the harvest. One of the quintette, stated Officer Cooney, sought the delights of freedom by leaping a fence with considerable agility, but he was relentlessly pursued, and this morning he graced, with his companions, the space before the bench.

The alleged fracturers of the Sabbath calm with ungodly sports offered no defence. The tax per individual was $5, and each succeeded in producing the assessment.

EX-MAYOR CROWLEY OF NASHUA DROPS DEAD

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 29.—James B. Crowley, who served five years as mayor of this city, retiring from office a year ago, died suddenly today while on an outing at Bethel, Me. He only recently returned from a Boston hospital, where he had been under treatment for a heart affection.

Ex-Mayor Crowley of Nashua was well and favorably known in Lowell, where he had often visited his sister, Mrs. Peter W. Kelly of the Oaklands. He was also prominent in Knights of Columbus circles and was well known and highly esteemed by many members of the Lowell council.

DURFEE LEAVES THE HOME RULE COMMITTEE

Walter H. Durfee today tendered his resignation to Mayor Perry D. Thompson as a member of the street railway home rule committee. Mr. Durfee, who has been an associate engineer with the Locks & Canals, is to leave Lowell in the near future to accept an instructorship in Hobart college.

"NO MAN'S" WOOD LOT CAUSE OF TROUBLE

A complicated litigation over a tract of land on the Massachusetts-New Hampshire border, to which the title is disputed, resulted in the appearance of Lawrence Plate in the district court today on charges of stealing wood. It appears that Plate was hired by one party in the dispute to cut wood on the land. A continuance was agreed upon with the understanding that no wood would be cut in the interim.

REMOVES ONE OF PORTABLE SCHOOLS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 29. (By Associated Press.)—After three days of fighting the Turks have forced the Greeks to retire across the Sakaria river in Asia Minor. The Greeks lost many prisoners, much material and cannon and transport wagons.

The entire plan of campaign formulated by the Greeks has been temporarily held up. The Greeks are said to have been defeated because of the salt desert, lack of water and many men stricken with malaria.

PARIS, Aug. 29. (By Associated Press.)—The right wing of the Greek army, which was attacking the Turks along the Sakaria river, in Asia Minor, has met with disaster and been completely severed from the main body of the Greek troops, according to a despatch from the correspondent of L'In-formation at Constantinople.

The dispatch adds that the entire Greek army is thus placed in a most difficult strategic position. The Turks are attacking and seem to have plenty of ammunition.

Mr. Root has been named by five countries: France, Brazil, Bolivia, Venezuela and Uruguay.

"Out You Go," Say Officers

to appear in court. An exception will be made to this rule, declared His Honor, when some special circumstances of aggravation surround the arrest. If the officer states that he has received a complaint of other misconduct in connection with the intoxication, even first offenders will be haled before the bench.

Recently Made Public

Recently Judge Enright made public his intention of having all drunkenness defendants held for a hearing before the court, regardless of whether it had been their first, or a later offense. It had been the custom to release first offenders before the morning court session, unless they had committed some other misdemeanor while drunk. "I think the public should know what is going on in this city," was His Honor's expressed reason for this change, which was in line with the determination of the police to stamp out moonshine. It was felt that a campaign of "filth publicity" might serve to ameliorate the situation here, by giving pause to those who otherwise would not hesitate to sample the product of local hooch makers. However, large defendants, with drunkenness defendants, a greatly predominating over all other offenders, continued to be the rule, and Saturday His Honor threatened to take even more drastic measures to halt the general debauchery. He threatened in open court to send to jail those arrested for drunkenness for the first time.

Pitiable Phase

However, over the week end, another and a very pitiable phase of the situation was brought to Judge Enright's attention when he received a number of tragic pleas from the families of men lured by the free-flowing liquor of Lowell. Sons and daughters of men exposed in court as victims of intoxication besought His Honor to spare them the shame of publicity. Impelled by feeling for these innocent victims of the local conditions, His Honor determined to revert to the less stringent practices which had been abolished for a time. "I felt," he stated this morning, "that the members of the families of these men, guilty of no wrong doing themselves, should be spared, if at all possible, the mental anguish of having their dear ones publicly disgraced by being brought before the bar in open court." His Honor added that after giving the matter lengthy consideration, and balancing the rights of all concerned, he has come to the conclusion that justice can be served and unnecessary pain can be spared to wives and little ones, by less severity to those who have fallen into the clutches of bootleggers, liquor and other varieties of booze vendors for the initial time.

The Old Policy

The old policy, of release for first offenders guilty of nothing but ordinary drunkenness, was again put in practice this morning by order of the court, shortly before the regular morning session opened at 10 a. m. The dock, crowded with prisoners, was emptied of first offenders who had in no other way violated the law save by intoxication. This action was taken on only a few moments before the court entered, and created some comment, but Judge Enright later in the morning issued his statement in explanation of his action.

Labor Protests

son and has been backed up by the personal visit of a delegation, representing the council.

The Trades and Labor council at its last meeting went on record as favoring the purchase of the gas plant and felt that any election on the matter should be held on a day when no other issue is to be decided. The mayor informed the delegation which waited upon him that the matter was one for the entire municipal council to decide. He assured them that their protest would be read at the next meeting of the city council.

The labor men feel that holding both elections on the same day will tend to confuse the issues.

petition. It will not be able to set a date for a special election until Sept. 9, 20 days after City Clerk Flynn attached his certificate of sufficiency to the petition, which was Aug. 13. Another question will be the fate of the lot in the street department, aggregating $105,000, to complete paving, macadam and sewer work planned for this year. The $12,000 loan order to take over land in the Highlands for a playground will also come up, in all probability, at this week's meeting. The business will also engage the attention of the council.

Little Marie Jones, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Jones of 43 White street, is in a serious condition at the Lowell Correctional hospital, as a result of burns she received late Saturday afternoon while playing with matches near the home of her uncle, Mr. George H. Cosgrove, 33 White street. It was only a half hour before the accident that Mr. Jones took a fatal of matches away from the child. Later, however, she managed to get more matches and while playing with them in the yard, her clothes became ignited. Her shouts attracted the attention of Mrs. Cosgrove, who quickly put out the flames with a rug, but not before the girl had been severely burned about the body. First aid was given her and then she was taken to the hospital, where it was stated her name is on the dangerous list, although her chances for recovery are fairly good.

The ceremony will take place at the residence of Mr. Smith, who is living at the home of Countess Lasslo Szechenyi, formerly Miss Gladys M. Vanderbilt and youngest daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York.

DEFINITE IMPROVEMENT IN INDUSTRY NOTED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—Some lines of industry have shown definite signs of improvement during the last few weeks and the undertone of optimism, scarcely audible in the quiet recent past, can be heard more plainly, the monthly business review of the Fourth Federal Reserve bank said today.

Progress has been shown in iron and steel not only through seasonal spurts but through mid-season depression. The automobile business, although not satisfactory, has made considerable progress. There are some people who have failed to see the light and are holding hard to the old price policy, the statement said, and their high prices have placed a stumbling block in the path of business.

LEGIONERS LUNCH AMID RUINS OF YPRES

YPRES, Belgium, Aug. 29. (By the Associated Press.)—The American Legion members visiting Europe, after spending the morning on the Yser battlefields, lunched amidst the ruins of this battered city. Then they went on a visit to the large cemeteries containing the remains of 300,000 allied and German soldiers.

The burgomaster of Courtrai expressed to the Americans the thanks of the population of Flanders for the assistance rendered by Americans in the work of reconstruction.

FOCH TO SAIL FOR U. S. ON OCT. 22

PARIS, August 29.—Marshal Foch will sail for America on board the Paris, on October 22. Such at least are the arrangements at present, and instructions making reservations for that date have been sent from the government office to the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. The marshal will be accompanied by Gen. De Stricker, one of his chiefs of staff; Cavalry Commander Merry and Capt. L'Hopital of the artillery, who form his personal staff. The party will arrive at New York on October 25 and, as at present planned, the tour will include Texas and California among the states visited. On Armistice day, November 11, the marshal will preside over the national convention of the American Legion in Kansas City.

ALBERT BACK FROM CANADIAN TRIP

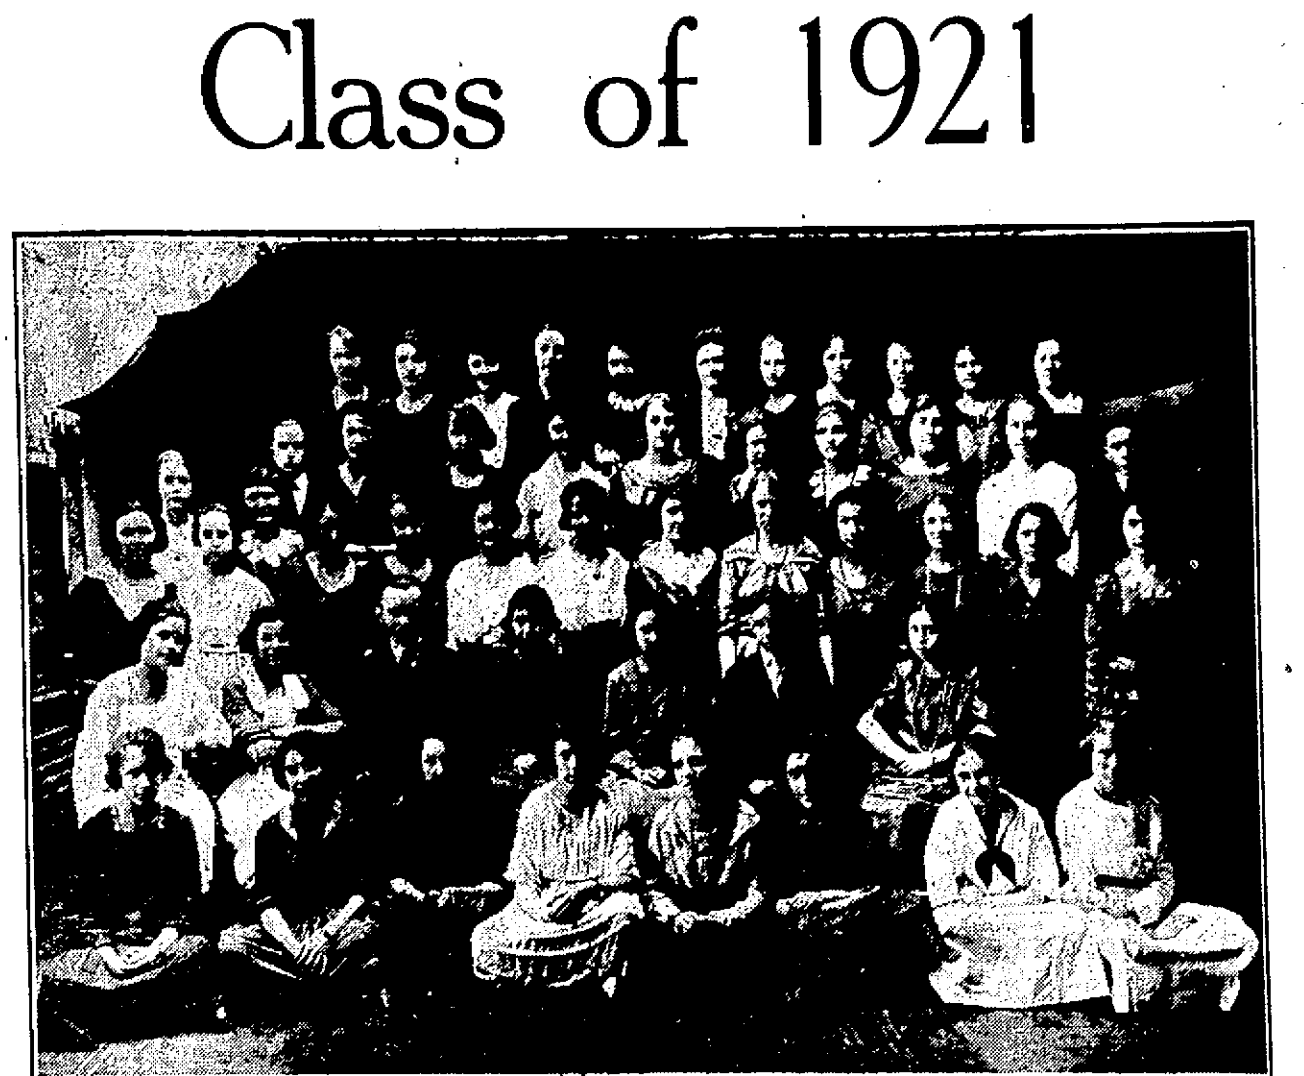

Undertaker Joseph Albert returned this morning from a pleasant three-weeks' trip to Canada. Mr. Albert attended the taking of the final vows of his daughter, Bernadette, who has joined the order of Grey Nuns of the Cross at Ottawa. Later he visited his birthplace at Riviere-du-Loup, Que., which he had not seen for 42 years. A pleasant incident in connection with his trip was the meeting of an old friend, Louis Pelletier, assistant secretary of state at Ottawa, whom he had not seen for 25 or 30 years. Mr. Pelletier is 72 years of age and is still enjoying good health. The pair traveled together from Ottawa to Riviere-du-Loup.

CLOSELY ESCAPES PRISON SAYS JUDGE

Possibly escaping twenty years in state's prison, according to the court, Joseph Kozlowski got off with three months in jail in the district court this morning, because of reluctance to testify against him by the woman he was charged with seeking to assault. Kozlowski was booked on a drunkenness complaint, but Chief Cullinan of the District police testified that the real status of the case was far more serious than mere intoxication, as far as his investigations could discover. Kozlowski had attacked a married woman at Darent, in the presence of her children, according to the chief. Mr. Cullinan, however, added that he was unable to penetrate the alleged victim to appear and testify against the defendant. Judge Enright stated that possibly Kozlowski might have got twenty years, had it been possible to bring out all the facts of the matter. As it is, a stiff sentence was handed out on the drunkenness charge. The defendant appealed and was held in $200 bonds.

PARCEL POST GROWING

According to figures recently compiled at the local postoffice the volume of parcel post articles handled here is increasing by leaps and bounds. The number of parcel post articles weighing more than 4 pounds delivered in this city by motor vehicles during the fiscal year ending June 1921 was 315,160. Some idea of the immensity of these figures will be gained by the additional statement that during the same period in 1918 the number of such parcels delivered was 179,434. The number of insured parcels despatched during the past fiscal year was 47,510. During 1921 the number of such parcels despatched was only 32,227. According to local postal authorities these are only a few features to show the upward tendency of the postal business which is handled in the restricted space in the local office.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Joseph Wheatley, former national 440-yard swimming champion, representing the New York Athletic club, captured the 1000 yard upper Hudson river championship race here yesterday, setting a new record of 15 minutes 4 4-5 seconds. H. Prendergast and James Merwitz of Troy were second and third.

PUGSLEY SELECTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Charles W. Pugsley of Nebraska, has been selected by President Harding for appointment as assistant secretary of agriculture to succeed Dr. Elmer D. Ball whose resignation, effective Oct. 1, was announced today at the White House.

ACCIDENTAL LOVE

Jean Riley

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—It took an automobile accident, resulting in a fractured skull and internal injuries, to bring about a reconciliation between Mrs. W. P. Mooney, film actress known as Jean Riley, and her husband. She was suing for divorce, charging extreme cruelty and non-support when—
She and friend husband were out driving and, as usual, quarreling. In a dispute over a ring which he had promised her, she grasped his hand to remove the ring—and awakened in a hospital. A telephone pole had stopped the automobile, and, incidentally, the spat.
In the hospital mutual forgiveness was in order.
Now they're both glad the accident occurred.

THE PUBLIC PEACE

The newspapers have played an important part in bringing to the public peace. When the story is written of all that they have done to assist in bringing to justice criminals, who otherwise would have gone free from punishment, a striking chapter in the annals of crime will be available.

Murderers, almost without number, have been brought to the bar of justice by the newspapers working in conjunction with and assisting the police.

It was the intelligence and thoughtful analysis of a journalist that forced upon the Boston police department reluctant action which led to the arrest of the murderer Richeson after the authorities had publicly announced that his unfortunate victim had committed suicide.

It was the newspapers which gathered in the face of opposition, and placed slowly together, the evidence that led to the arrest and conviction of Charles Parker on the charge of murdering Mahal Page.

The list might be continued almost indefinitely. In most cities the police authorities long ago learned the value of the help that the newspapers can give to them. They understand and appreciate fully the value of widespread publicity in the detection of criminals.

Lowell we have a rather unusual condition of affairs. A large part of the news regarding the commission of crimes is kept hidden from the press and the public at least for a time, under the impression that if the newspapers say nothing about it, the culprits will be thrown off their guard so as to be more readily captured.

On this point the police are mistaken for the reason that the citizens of a city are interested and if they get any further information bearing on the case, they will convey it to the newspapers or the police. If there is any detail that for a good reason the police do not want published, no decent newspaper will fail to honor their request.

The newspapers are not primarily interested in the question of whether or not a policy of suppressing the news shall be followed. As has recently been shown by a leading paper in Portland, Me., it is easily possible for a newspaper to organize its forces in such a way that it can gather the criminal news of the day so fully and completely as to force the officials to adopt a policy of publicity to save themselves from public rebuke.

It is the law-abiding citizen who needs the protection that comes from making police activities, except in unusual cases, matters of open record to the public press. If there are burglars, pickpockets, or other types of criminals in the city, the people have a right to know the fact, that they may take steps to protect themselves and their property.

They also have a right to the records of the police department that they may have available information as to whether the officers are properly performing their duty.

The public safety requires that the records shall be public except in those rare instances where there is a possibility that the course of justice might be interfered with by too early publicity.

FUTURE OF FLYING

Airship flying will soon be so common and extensive that a raft of lava will be necessary to control it. This will require an amendment to the constitution, for the report to the American Bar Association by its special committee on aviation.

The lawyers, having provided legislation covering about everything that can happen on land and under the sea, are eager to try their hands at air laws.

Accidents, such as the death toll when a dirigible crashed through the skylight of Chase bank here, give a foreboding of danger in store for those on ground when flying machines become as common as flycatchers.

Some city councils have provided or are considering ordinances making it illegal to fly over congested districts.

This, the lawyers are, is going to lead to a perplexing maze of local air-control laws, and since the airplane will be a vehicle of long trip, a flier won't know what to do along the route to keep the air traffic cops from his heels.

Hence, the lawyers urge, there should be a constitutional amendment, giving the national government complete jurisdiction over the air.

One of the first questions to be thrashed out is how far into the air does a real estate hold have? Is a flier guilty of trespassing if he flies your chimney only by a few inches?

The lawyers say we're all wrong in the notion that the airplane is primarily a military device. They consider that, in the future, and not far off, the commercial and economic use of the airship will be of first importance.

Flying already is being put to odd uses. Rich ranchers fly over their properties, inspecting as much in a few hours as their cowboys could in a week.

Flying racquets patrol for forest fires. Engineers use airplanes to select best railroad routes.

Scientists recently photographed from the air the San Andreas Rift line of the 1871 and 1891 earthquakes in California. They say they learned much about geological "faults" and hence may be able to locate possible danger sections.

Harry A. Carver, farmer near Troy, O., has a grove of 500 Catalpa trees. It requires several days to spray it with hand pumps, so he hires an aviator, who does the spraying in 20 minutes.

Those interested in the airplane who are not aviators, are interested in the airplane as a vehicle of long trip, a flier won't know what to do along the route to keep the air traffic cops from his heels.

THE IRISH PROBLEM
If Lloyd George wants to facilitate the settlement of the Irish question

MECHANIC PHALANX HAS A REUNION

The members of the Lowell Mechanic Phalanx, composed of former members of Company C, Sixth regiment, M.V.M., held a well attended reunion at their camp in Tyngsboro, Sunday, and developed plans for further activities in the near future. It is planned to hold an outing at camp on Sunday, September 18, and a large attendance is expected.

Considerable work has been done during the past few months by the members, under the direction of the camp committee, an addition having been built to the kitchen and a large grove in the rear cleared of underbrush and a lawn laid from the veranda to the river bank.

Among those present at yesterday's meeting was Col. Alexander Greig, U.S.A., captain of Company C during the Spanish war, and now stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He spoke on his old days in Company C and congratulated the association on its splendid progress.

The British premier can bring Ulster into line if he so desires. In Ulster there are extremists who affect to be more loyal to the empire than the king; but these are probably in the minority even in the Unionist strongholds of Antrim, Down and Derry.

In a speech delivered by the premier on Saturday at Barmaley, he attacked extreme prejudice on both sides. The following statement is rather surprising coming from Lloyd George relative to Ireland:

"We have all got prejudices," he declared. "I have seen anti-Irish prejudices lashed into unwholesome and have seen anti-English prejudices on the other side lashed into unwholesome. For God's sake let us clear aside prejudices. A nation that lives on prejudices is doomed, just like a man who lives on hatred."

Whether it is in public or in private, no man can endure who has a vendetta in business or politics, and a nation's vendettas are just the same.

Evidently the premier has seen a new light and if it causes him to convince Ulster of the absurdity of her position in assuming either to secede from the rest of Ireland or to dictate the national policy, he will have overcome the chief difficulty that lies in the way of a settlement acceptable to all the people.

What is wanted above all is a united Ireland, one and indivisible. The Irish leaders regard the premier's offer of dominion home rule as leaving Ulster out of the camp.

THE HERALD'S BIRTHDAY
The Sun extends its congratulations and good wishes to the Boston Herald on its 75th birthday which it celebrated by issuing a diamond jubilee edition Sunday.

Included in the issue is a letter from President Harding. It would be difficult to express more truthful appreciation of the paper than he has done in the words:

"As a newspaper maker myself, I intend a compliment to the Herald when I say that no many public men could have agreed with it all the time, and that few indeed could have entertained any other than an attitude of respect for it and confidence in its sincerity of purpose."

The Herald has had not only a long and useful career, but it has also had an unusually interesting one. In its earlier years it was of the type that would today be called the "yellow."

It criticized in unmeasured terms men and policies which it did not like. Withal, however, its criticisms were so manifestly and so thoroughly honest that even public men who were most violently assailed had to acknowledge the Herald's honesty of purpose.

A large-size picture of John H. Holmes looks out from the columns of the jubilee edition. His influence in bringing the Herald to a high standard of success was profound. It was his policy that made the paper a power editorially. He wrote but little himself, but had the faculty of getting other men to do good work.

His most remarkable achievements were in the newspaper gathering field. It might be said of him that he was of the highest type of successful newspaper man, one who possesses the faculty of getting the news before the public in an acceptable form and in the shortest time.

Under Robert Lincoln O'Brien, as editor, The Herald has developed to the point where it is one of the most highly creditable and successful newspapers of the country.

ONE-ARM LUNCHEONS

The commission on the necessities of life has been looking into the prices charged for food in the so-called one-arm lunches with rather startling results. It finds that the margin charged for an order of beans where the patron has to leave for other matters is equally open to criticism; so that there is good reason why such places should either reduce their prices or else give more for the price charged.

It was on the assumption that they could sell prepared food cheaper than other restaurants that they dispensed with waiters. They should not forget the prime purpose of the one-arm lunches.

BANDLEADER DEAF
Souza, king of bandmasters, confesses that he has been deaf of hearing for some time, and couldn't hear much more than a jumble when his men played.

How could he direct a band when he couldn't hear how they were playing? The answer probably is, that Souza has his musicians so well trained they don't require directing in the concert.

An organization runs along automatically when built up and perfected by a genius like Souza. Memoranda acquired from its creation, carries it along.

RICH BOOTBLACKS
Five bootblacks, the Gregory brothers, will build a $1,000,000 hotel at Lowell, Mass.

They will build the upper part of the hotel on the site of the old Lowell Hotel, which was burned down in 1892.

What's what can be accomplished by waiting the minutes and minutes? How many customers, whose tips helped the Gregorys reach the top, have accumulated $1,000,000? Probably none.

It is now as if there is a lot of money in the air, and it is being blown about by the wind of speculation.

COURT CROWDED FOR HEARING

Crowd Gathers at Barnstable When Negroes Are Taken Into Court for Hearing

Extra Guards and Motorcycle Policemen on Duty—No Disorder

BARNSTABLE, Aug. 29.—A small crowd of persons surrounded the courthouse and jail here today, and extra guards and state motorcycle policemen were on duty when the three Cape Verde Island negroes were transferred from the jail to the courthouse for a hearing on charges of attacking a white girl two weeks ago. The men were threatened with lynching at the time of their arrest.

The crowd which gathered outside the jail and later filled the courtroom, appeared to be mainly curious persons who showed no indications of the mob spirit manifested previously.

The negroes, John Diles, Benjamin Gomez and Joseph Andrews, are charged with assaulting Miss Gertrude Butler of Buzzards Bay and robbing her escort, William Eldredge, while they were returning from a dance late at night. All three were identified by the young woman.

It was arranged that Diles and Gomez should be given a hearing together in the district court while the case of Andrews, juvenile, was set for a special session because of his youth.

Mr. Gompers also made public correspondence with the White House in which he urged President Harding to appoint one or more representatives of labor on the American commission.

Support of the federal also was pledged by the president in his move to bring about disarmament.

President Harding in replying to Mr. Gompers thanked him for the federation's support and said that he would give consideration to the recommendation that a labor representative be appointed to the American delegation, which he characterized as a "very practical suggestion."

Mr. Gompers' statement said that President Harding at a conference with him had also "expressed himself as being favorably impressed with this suggestion."

President Gompers' Appeal
In his appeal to the labor movements of Italy, Great Britain, France and Japan, President Gompers said that they should be represented in the Washington conference as the "Rights and Interests of the workers will be less intimately affected in the Washington conference than they were in the peace conference at Versailles, where their right to representation and participation was fully recognized and accepted."

"It is urged that the bona fide labor movements of all nations which are to participate in the forthcoming disarmament conference to be held in Washington insist upon representation in the various participating delegations," he continued.

"Experience has demonstrated time and again that no group of citizens in any country is called upon to make greater sacrifices, to endure greater privations or to suffer greater mental and physical anguish than are the workers of the world."

"It is clear that the fact that no group of people in any land is required to bear greater burdens or to suffer greater injustices and inequities in the aftermath of war than the workers."

"From the first," it added, "the American Federation of Labor has taken a leading part in bringing to the consciousness of the world the need for disarmament and the release of the workers from the terrible burdens and dangers created by great naval and military establishments."

SALEM, Aug. 29.—John L. Whalen, aged 35, of 114 Boston street, ended his life in a spectacular manner about 7 o'clock last night when he placed a nitroglycerine cartridge in his mouth and touched it off with a lighted match.

There was an explosion and Whalen sank to the ground, the inside of his mouth and head were frightfully torn. He was hurried to the Salem hospital, where he died within half an hour.

Looking on when Whalen committed suicide were several young men, whom he stopped while walking along Boston st. and invited them to "see me kill myself."

Whalen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Whalen and was unmarried. He is survived by his parents, brothers and sisters. He was a mason by trade.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Imprisoned

O, I walked the world a-swagger and I boasted I was free,
There was never woman living that could hold or fetter me,
Though I kissed and I philandered, it was all in merry jest,
And the lover's hungry longing never burned within my breast;
Then—your calm eyes looked upon me, I was slave to your command,
And my heart was in the hollow of your hand!

NOW I walk the world a humbled, who was all so brave and bold,
I who boasted once of freedom, faith I'm easy now to hold,
Bound within a web of glamor which I have no will to break,
I am subject of your fancy—yours to mar and yours to make;
(Oh, your eyes are like warm waters sparkling over golden sand,
And my heart is in the hollow of your hand!)

FACES COURT-MARTIAL RAID GAMBLERS, KILL ONE AND TAKE $15,000

Lt. Marbell Accused of Conduct Prejudicial to Good Order and Discipline

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Charges of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, based on his alleged refusal to take command of a submarine and make a trip from New London to Hampton Roads and return, were preferred against Lt. George Marbell before a general court-martial at the navy yard here today.

Commanded on April 25 last, while in command of the submarine O-8 at the New London base, was ordered to take temporary command of the O-4 and make the voyage to Hampton Roads. He protested, it is charged, because of the condition of the engines. After these had been repaired he still protested against the order.

Another officer was given the command and made the trip without incident. A letter which Marbell is alleged to have sent to naval officials in which he expressed his opinion that no military necessity existed for ordering him to make the trip in command of the O-4 was submitted to the court.

Y. W. C. A. CAMP CLOSSES PLEASANT SEASON

The Y.W.C.A. Camp Weldmore closed Saturday evening after the most successful season in the history of the organization. A pleasing program was held to mark the end of the camp activities. About 100 people went to the camp from Lowell in attendance.

The camp presented a very pretty picture as the exercises progressed in the light of many Japanese lanterns strung about under the trees. The swimming pool was similarly lighted by hanging lights and in their glow the expert swimmers among the campers gave an exhibition of the things that they have learned to do during their stay at the camp. Among other things were exhibitions of the breast stroke, the overhand stroke and fancy diving.

After the sports in the pool had drawn to a close the assembled company went to the camp proper where a program of field sports including a potato race and a newspaper race were run off. Then the girls and their friends grouped around a camp fire and the awards of the year were made. These consisted of honor badges and they went to girls who had taken and passed one or more of the several tests connected with camp life. At the close of the exercises the party repaired to the wharf where the girls and their friends sang songs in a parting chorus.

Refreshments for the evening were served through the kindness of Charles Sharf.

Looking on when Whalen committed suicide were several young men, whom he stopped while walking along Boston st. and invited them to "see me kill myself."

Whalen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Whalen and was unmarried. He is survived by his parents, brothers and sisters. He was a mason by trade.

800 MILLIONS DECREASE IN INTERNAL REVENUES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Internal revenue collections from all sources during the fiscal year 1921 decreased more than $812,000,000 as compared with the previous year, while the cost of collection advanced from 55 cents to 83 cents for each $100 collected, according to a preliminary statement issued last night by Commissioner Blair.

The increased cost of operating the internal revenue service during 1921, which amounted to about $40,000,000, he explained, was mainly due to reduced collections and increased expense in supervising regulatory laws.

Total collections for 1921 amounted to $1,595,000,765, against $4,107,550,231 in 1920, while income and profits taxes yielded $3,225,790,653, compared with $3,585,935,000 the previous year, and miscellaneous taxes produced $1,369,210,112, against $1,450,614,215 in 1920.

This protest, which has been submitted to Mayor Thompson, is continued on Page Five.

15 IN DISABLED BOAT RESCUED

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 29.—Alexander Noto, a sailor on the U. S. S. Rushnet, did a meritorious piece of work yesterday afternoon. When near Cape Hatteras, on Long Beach, near the Rockport line, he saw a disabled motor boat with 15 people on board being driven on the rocks, side to, and in danger of capsizing.

He swam out in the surf, gained the boat and succeeded in pulling her bow on toward land and throwing a line ashore. The line was grasped by those on the rocks, who pulled the boat to safety. When the party was safely landed, Noto was much exhausted and was given dry clothing at a nearby summer cottage.

YORK JUST GETS UP AND TALKS - WITH NO EMOTION WHATSOEVER

SKETCHES OF SERGEANT YORK MADE BY ARTIST GROVE, WHICH YORK AUTOGRAPHED.

SERGEANT YORK SPURNS $300 A WEEK OFFER

(By Newspaper Enterprise)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—"I could have anything in the world that I want, but—"

"My conscience simply will not permit me to exploit patriotism."

Sergeant Alvin C. York, whom General Pershing called "the greatest hero of the world war," had just finished an evangelistic address before a religious gathering at Nazarene Tabernacle here. He had held a packed hall intensely interested in close to an hour with a "heart to heart talk on conscience."

"The day I left for Cleveland," said York, "I received an offer from a vaudeville concern in New York. They proposed to pay me $300 a week, on a 20-week contract, for speaking 30 minutes from the stage each evening."

"I didn't answer the offer. I'm not interested in making money out of patriotism. It is only one of many offers that I have had—and turned down."

And this, in spite of the fact that there is a $12,500 mortgage on York's farm near Fall Mall, Tenn., which will soon be due.

"If I could stand in the open on my farm and say, 'This is my farm, then things would be about as bright for my wife and child and myself as they possibly could be,' York continued."

"The farm was given me by friends in Tennessee. They paid $25,000 down, leaving a balance of $12,500, to be cleared in four installments. The first payment has been made and the second is due on November 15. About $5000 must be paid at that time."

"Whether my friends will be able to make that payment, I cannot say. They are trying hard to raise the money."

Approaching Crisis

York says if the payment is not made on time, the whole balance of the loan becomes immediately due.

"No doubt that would mean that I'd have to give up the farm," he added. "But I believe that my prayers will be answered."

Asked what he would get out of his religious talks in Cleveland, York replied:

"Oh, they'll pay my expenses and a little more. But they're giving me a chance to talk religion—an opportunity

U. S. RELIEF WORKERS ARRIVE AT MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Aug. 27. (By the Associated Press).—Seven American relief administration workers headed by Philip Carroll of Portland, Ore., arrived here this afternoon and will open an office tomorrow to organize the work of feeding the Russian famine sufferers. Dr. Fridtjof Nansen and E. A. Fricke, representing the International Red Cross, signed an agreement this afternoon with Leo Kuznetsov, head of the Russian famine relief commission, in which the International Red Cross arranges to do relief work on virtually the same terms as the American relief administration. Immediately after signing the agreement, Dr. Nansen left for Riga. He said the only funds actually available were those of the British "Save the Children Fund," but he hoped to secure government credits and private funds.

REBELS KILLED

British Forces Inflict Heavy Casualties Upon Insurgent Bands in India

70 of Leinster Regiment and 17 Policemen Missing—

Many Hindus Massacred

CALICUT, India, Aug. 28.—(By the Associated Press).—Nearly 700 members of the insurgent bands which have been creating disorders in the district south and southeast of this city, have been killed in fights with British forces sent to quell the uprising. Several Europeans have been killed, while 70 men of the Leinster regiment and 17 native policemen are missing. Many Hindus have been massacred.

Indian troops are being brought southward from Cannanore, a military station on the Malabar coast, north of this city, and will be thrown into the troubled districts to quell the uprising of the Moplah tribes in the neighborhood of Ponant. It is reported that the insurgents have destroyed bridges and felled trees across roads for the purpose of obstructing troop movements. Bluejackets and marines from the warship Comus have been landed here.

British troops, including cavalry, arrived here from Bangalore Sunday and proceeded to the disturbed area.

Numerous refugees who have arrived here from the Ernad district relate pitiful tales of torture and looting. It appears the rebels have deserted Tanur and other places and have taken to the hills.

Reinforcements Arrive

LONDON, August 28. (By the Associated Press).—Reports today from the revolutionary area of Malabar, British India, indicating that British troops and cavalry had arrived here, tended to confirm the belief here that the uprising would be confined to this area, although none would deny the seriousness of the situation or its potentialities for spreading.

The revolutionary area is somewhat isolated from the other portions of India which might be expected to lend co-operation in such a movement, but it would not surprise officials here if the fanatical Mohammedans along the northern frontier should take this occasion to write another chapter into their warfare against the British.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The trouble in Malabar arises, it is stated, primarily from religious fanaticism and from the intense hatred of the Moplahs, or Mohammedans of Arab descent, for Europeans and Hindus. Of politics and home rule they know nothing as they virtually are barbarians, but the religious torch will always stir them to action as they live mainly for their religion and are willing to die for it. Self torture is not uncommon among the Moplahs in the hope that they will thus arrive in heaven. They believe death on the battlefield is the sure road to a happy hereafter.

Closely observers here of Indian affairs express the belief that the uprising also is due in part to the widespread propaganda to the native Indian nationalists. To this agitation has been added reports of great wrongs done Turkey and the Caliphate by the treaty of Sevres.

The situation for isolated Europeans and Hindus in the Malabar region is precarious as the Moplahs in the past have hated at nothing in their frenzied hatred. At the time of the projected pretentious uprising in the Punjab at the outbreak of the war, some of the most cold-blooded documents were issued telling how Europeans were to be exterminated to the last person.

McGarry, the last named representing the Clan na Gael, all addressed to President De Valera and congratulating him upon his reply to Lloyd George relative to the rights of Ireland. Judge Cahalan of New York sent a message to De Valera promising what support he could give to the Irish republic. The letters all commended the patriotic spirit and the clear and logical position of the national aspirations of the Irish people voiced by President De Valera in his formal reply to the British premier.

Flight to Lowell

for young birds. At 11 o'clock, 22 min. and 47 sec. a pigeon owned by Emilie made its appearance, capturing second prize for old birds. The two other birds that came in before 2 o'clock were owned by Emilie Hoesebrouck, its time being 11 o'clock 55 m. and 2 sec. and the other by William Lessard, which flew in at 12 o'clock 6 m. and 45 sec.

Becoming Popular

Pigeon flying in this city is becoming a favorite sport and the members of the Lowell Flying club predict that within a few years it will become one of the popular American pastimes. It is a good clean sport and very fascinating, for every owner of fliers is always eager to win when birds are flown in France and Belgium it is a national sport in which men, women and even children are vitally interested, and it is said that in either of these countries it is a common occurrence to see thousands of pigeons hovering high in the skies and flapping their wings in the direction of home.

A little explanation on how the races are conducted may be of some interest to Lowell people, who are not accustomed to this kind of sport. First it might be stated that each member of the Lowell Flying club owns no less than 100 birds, the value of each being no less than $10. These birds are given the best of care and training and are shown how to fly when very young. Pigeons under the auspices of the local club are being held every Sunday throughout the summer. The birds, which participate in a race, are given plenty to eat on the day preceding the race, but not a particle of food is eaten from the minute they leave their coops until they return, unless the race is a long distance one, 500 miles or over. In such cases birds are fed before they are flown, but they do not eat en route.

Placed in Baskets

On the day preceding the race the fliers are placed in baskets and shipped to the flying point via the American Express Co. At a set time the next morning the lids of the baskets are lifted and the birds are allowed to fly. In the few starts, the pigeons fly high in the air, circle around once or twice in order to get their bearings and then off they are. As soon as the birds are down the express agent sends a telegram to the club headquarters, announcing the time the pigeons have been liberated as well as weather conditions.

After the telegram is received at the club the members whose birds are participating in the race go to their respective homes and there await the return of their favorites. Each bird wears on its right leg a silver ring with its number and in addition it wears on its left a rubber band with an official inscription. The owner of pigeons stands near his coop and as soon as one bird or a flock of them hovers over his hand he blows a special whistle, and the "members" of his flock drop down and enter their coops. He then rushes in, removes the rubber band and fidgets each flier places it in a brass "cartridge" and into the indicator. He then turns the crank and the hour, minute and second is registered on a sheet of white paper. This indicator is sealed and cannot be opened only by an officer of the club, who is designated as one of the judges. The indicator is set upon a watch, which is wound and enclosed in a leather case, which is later sealed.

After Fourth Arrival

If there are four prizes in the race the contest is about to a close after the fourth bird has flown in. Of course the members of the club do not all live together and each one has to be notified when the race is over so that he can take his indicator to the club. This is how the notification is done. One man places one of his birds in the coop of another and as soon as the last flier flies in and the race is officially brought to an end, the strange bird in the coop is liberated and immediately returns to its own coop as soon as it arrives the strange bird in the other coop of let out and this system is followed until all birds have been sent out. As soon as the birds return to their respective coops, their owners rush to the club with the indicator and the prizes are awarded.

The officers of the Lowell Flying club are as follows: Willie Lessard, president; Leon Hoesebrouck, vice president; Emilie Hoesebrouck, treasurer; Albert Greenwood, secretary; O. Chapman, corresponding secretary. The members of the club are as follows: Leon Hoesebrouck, Emilie Hoesebrouck, George Smith, William Lessard, Hector Lessard, Octave Chapman, Joseph Ropelle, William Tablin, P. Dealda, D. J. McGeehey, Cyrille Tooliere, W. Chaffoux. It is feared there are about 1900 pigeons in the club.

SAYS "SILESIA IS TORCH"

World's Greatest Pianist
Who Sacrificed Art for
Poland Tells Why

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Aug. 28.—"A torch that may start another world conflagration."

Thus Paderewski describes Upper Silesia.

The world's greatest pianist, who sacrificed his art and most of his fortune on the altar of patriotism, is preparing to sell his wonderful ranch in California.

In the vicinity of Paso Robles, a great almond-growing country, Paderewski owns 2,544 acres of choice orchard land. Within a few weeks all but 212 acres of Rancho San Ignacio will be sold at public auction.

The 320 acres in Madame Paderewski's name and will be retained for a time.

Back to Europe
Following the sale, in a few months, the Paderewskis plan to sail for Switzerland. Later they may return to Poland, but when is not decided.

Every day Paderewski practices at his piano for an hour. But this is behind, tightly closed doors. Only Madame Paderewski is permitted to hear the master who once thrilled countless thousands.

Paderewski has no intention of playing in public again. A great artist must put his heart and soul into his art; Paderewski feels he cannot do this because of his intense interest in the affairs of his native Poland.

"I have not played in public for more than four years, and like every part of the human body the fingers require exercise," he says, as he raises his right hand and slowly moves his fingers about.

"I cannot play the piano and politics together," says Madame Paderewski. "My husband never will go back to his music. There is too much else to do."

Expected Red Drive
The man who threw his all into Poland's centuries-long fight for freedom, whose personality and diplomacy won so much for the Poles at the peace conference, and who became Poland's first premier, is deeply concerned for his country's safety.

He inclines to the belief that another Bolshevik invasion of Poland is inevitable, unless the present famine causes the overthrow of the soviet government.

Poland is not seeking land, says Paderewski. The Polish people want justice—the justice which the treaty of Versailles intended to give them—and they will not be satisfied until they get it.

Paragraph 88 of the treaty gave Germany an advantage that the former premier does not believe was intended. "Under this paragraph," he explains, "any person born in Upper Silesia, whether a resident of the district at the time or not, was entitled to vote at the plebiscite."

"Taking advantage of this paragraph, 200,000 German subjects crossed into Upper Silesia to vote. 'Certain districts, known to be made up almost entirely of German population, also were included in the plebiscite area.'"

"All this contributed heavily to the German victory." The Poles, he continued, revolted under the injustice, and despite the efforts of the Polish government a number of disorders occurred.

Action Taken
"The government exerted every effort to bring about peace," he said. "As soon as the disorders commenced the Polish frontier was closed and no one was allowed to enter the contested area."

"But the German frontier was not closed until many organized bands of Bavarians had crossed into Upper Silesia, starting a reign of terror."

"The Poles in the district were quick to see that Germany was waging an open war against them and, of course, they fought the invaders. Still, the Poles who are doing the fighting in Upper Silesia are strictly insurgents and not units of the Polish army."

"I deeply deplore the fact that my people should have found themselves in a position where many saw fit to resort to violence, but they simply revolted under the injustice."

Hopes for Remedy
Paderewski believes that the injury done Poland through paragraph 88 of the treaty of Versailles has been fully brought to the attention of the supreme council and the matter will be straightened out in the near future.

But just a little too much delay in righting the wrong, he added, may throw Europe into another war.

Madame Paderewski has a number of pictures of the hostels and orphanages she has established in Poland, France and England. Most of the children do not know who they are

AMUSEMENT NOTES

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Today marks the opening of the R. F. Keith theatre for its eleventh season. The new season is the aim for the present week and for those weeks which are to come is to put forward the very best of variety acts obtainable.

Heading the present week's bill will be Ed. Fressler and Blanche Klaise, who are traveling in this section of the country for the first time and who will go to the Pacific coast before their season ends. "A Lively Duo" is the trademark for their act which is a mixture of comedy, music and dancing. They were entertainers of the real vaudeville type, dwelling on different points just long enough to keep up the interest of their audiences. It is unusual to headline a pair of performers, except in instances where they purvey a superior brand of entertainment, and Fressler and Klaise will surely do that.

Farco is good only when played with great speed, and so Eddie Carr & Company in "The Office Boy" may be expected to fracture all of the speed rules for the stage. Carr is not unknown here. He is the title character of the act, which means that he is the freckle-faced youngster who introduces all comers to the grand mogul.

Surprises that are worth while happen perhaps a dozen times in a season. Fred Fenton and Sam Fields will spring one in "Appearing in Person." The nature of this surprise is kept a very dark secret. No surprise would be a surprise if one were thoroughly well tipped off about it, and so it can only be said that these two men are experienced funmakers who have hit on a novel idea.

Most of us have had our little trip to the seashore this summer, and are therefore in just the right mood to enjoy Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace in their ventriloquist novelty called "At the Seashore." It is true to the life, and enlivened with laughs.

All the way from California comes Jean Lacrosse, a song-bird with beauty of face and figure as well as of voice. She rates up very highly in the list of vaudeville singers. Chang and May are a couple of young Chinese who give an American touch to their work, and the DeLoons are noted equilibrist and aerialists. Pathe Weekly, Topics of the Day and a comedy complete the week's bill.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE: "Snowblind," a gripping story of the lonely north, produced by Reginald

Harker and enacted by an all-star cast. It is the feature attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. The story takes place in the Canadian northwest and has for a background perhaps the most beautiful mountain range on the American continent. "Bonnie May," the other feature for the first half of the week, stars pretty Bessie Love in the role of a child of the theatre who is a combination of childish innocence and worldly wisdom. A Sunshine comedy, "The Night Before," and the International News round out the bill.

OPERA HOUSE: With an entirely new cast and a repertoire of brand new plays, the opening of the stock season at the Opera House next Monday, matinee and night, should bring with it a welcome return of high-grade entertainment to playgoers of Lowell and vicinity. The vehicle to be used to introduce the new company will be Guy Bolton and George Middleton's new comedy of American home life, called "Adam and Eve." It will present every member to advantage, particularly the leading man, William Howard.

Owner Schaack and Resident Manager Cook have revised the schedule of weekly performances for the coming season and will have only four matinees, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, excepting on holiday weeks, such as the opening week, when an extra matinee will be held. The box office opens for the sale of tickets next Thursday. There will be a down-town ticket office at the Prince.

THE STRAND: William Russell, who comes to The Strand for the first three days of this week, displays marked ability in the portrayal of western roles, particularly in "Colorado Buck," his present offering. He rides into the hearts of his admirers and holds attention up to the closing second. Contrary to natural expectations, "Colorado Buck" is not a play confined to the American west. The scene, sweeping from the "every-man-his-own-law" atmosphere of the typical mining camp of frontier days in the west to the confined atmosphere of European nobility. In it there are two laughs for every sigh and two thrills for every laugh. "Colorado Buck" is the story of a successful western miner who visits New York's famous White Way, and eventually goes to England and marries the daughter of nobility—and then his troubles begin. He soon discovers that the girl married him for his riches, rather than because of himself. A bad investment brings his financial standing down considerably and he then decides to come back to America to recuperate, and brings his wife along with him. She is reluctant to accompany him but he persuades her and when they do get here and start right things start to shape themselves satisfactorily. The story has a happy ending.

The romance of old California, its loves and battles, is so amazingly depicted as the background for Carmel Myers' artistry in "The Kiss," her newest photodrama, which is to appear as the second feature on the bill. Johnston McCully wrote the story. It originally appeared in book form as "The Kiss."

WINS FIGHT WITH FLU AFTER 2 YEARS

PROVIDENCE WOMAN GAINS NINETEEN POUNDS AND WALKS TO TOWN ALONE FOR FIRST TIME

"I walked down town and back alone today for the first time in two years, and I just can't help praising Tanlac to everybody, for it has restored my health after I thought nothing could help me," was the statement made recently by Mrs. Alice Redell, 111 Cray street, Providence, R.I.

"I've gained nineteen pounds in weight by taking Tanlac and am so well and strong I actually feel like a new person. Two years ago I had an awful attack of influenza. I lost thirty-four pounds in weight and was so thin I was only a shadow of my former self. After getting up from this sickness, I seemed to linger along. Finally my appetite left me completely, and my stomach was so weak I just had to live on bread and milk. I got so weak I couldn't even stand up, and I thought my time for this world was getting short.

"After seeing so much in the paper about Tanlac I decided to try it, and my faith in it was well founded. Today I'm in fine health again. My appetite is simply splendid, everything agrees with me, and I sleep better and feel better than I have in years. I'm doing all my housework and it doesn't tire me a bit. I just know there's nothing like Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wm. Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; J. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

The flames were confined to the barn, although it was feared at times that the fire would spread to adjoining buildings. The blaze was a spectacular one and attracted attention from all parts of this city. The police officials of Tewksbury and Billerica are investigating.

TO AID UNEMPLOYED

President Harding to Call National Conference to Discuss Problem

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—President Harding will call a national conference, representative of the whole country, to meet here next month to inquire into the unemployment problem.

Announcement of the president's intention was made last night by Secretary Hoover, who was asked to formulate plans for the gathering. These, he said, would be ready for the president within 10 days.

"The object of the conference," Mr. Hoover said, "will be to inquire into the volume of needed employment, the distribution of unemployment, to make recommendations as to measures that can properly be taken in co-ordinated speeding up of employment by industries and public bodies during the next winter, and, in addition, a broad study of economic measures desirable to ameliorate the unemployment situation and give impulse to the recovery of business and commerce to normal."

"Many constructive suggestions have been made to the department by employers, governor of states and by city officials."

While it has been determined to keep the number at the conference as small as possible, he said, so that the work may be done with expedition, it is intended to invite representatives of the greater groups of industries and thought and the co-operation of national organizations will be sought to their selection.

The personnel of the conference, Mr. Hoover added, will be made up so as to represent the country geographically. The commerce department is to co-operate with the labor department on representation of labor.

"While the business situation is steadily improving," Mr. Hoover stated, "some sections of the workers may have exhausted their savings by the coming winter, and they must be a matter of extreme solicitude."

"It is inconceivable that America, with its surpluses in food and clothing, with housing—though crowded—and with an abundance of fuel, could allow any suffering amongst those of our own people who desire to work."

Cause 75 P. C. of All Matrimonial Disasters, Says Chicago Minister

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—A "university for the education of mothers-in-law" was advocated by Rev. Charles N. Stevens of the Third Presbyterian church in a sermon last night.

He asserted the mother-in-law problem had ceased to be a joke. "Seventy-five per cent. of all matrimonial disasters are precipitated by her interference," he asserted. "She is an outlaw instead of an in-law."

PROGRESS in banking means expansion. To meet adequately the demands of business and to enlarge its sphere of usefulness to the full extent, this bank announces the opening of its new quarters in the National Union Bank Building on Washington Street.

It is particularly appropriate that the new building should be situated opposite the Old State House—a structure rich in the historic traditions of the Nation and the Commonwealth.

For one hundred and twenty-nine years the National Union Bank has sturdily endeavored to indicate the safest roads to Progress, and has aided materially in the commercial and industrial development of the State and Nation.

Today it offers a most complete banking service based upon the united effort of a highly trained personnel.

JUSTICE FOR IRELAND

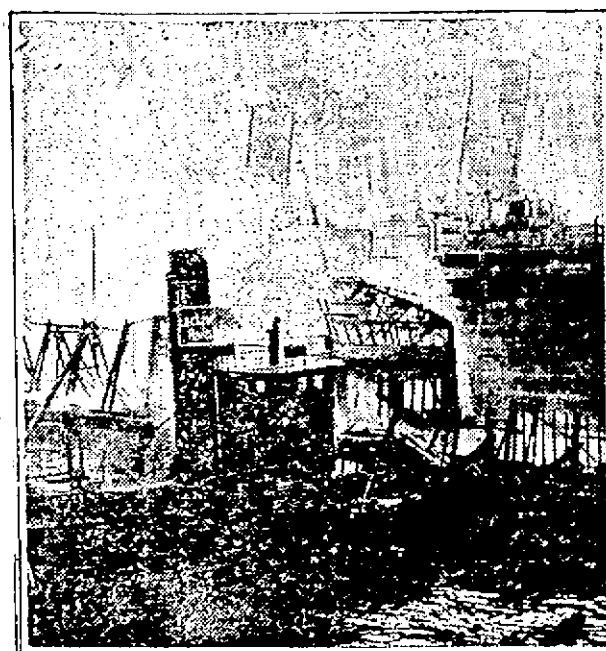

Demand of A. A. R. I. R. Meeting—Cable Sent to Lloyd George

At a largely attended meeting of the O'Connell district board, A.A.R.I.R., held in A.O.H. hall last evening, action was taken in opposition to the movement for disarmament and the refunding of the war loans to the allies; and it was the sentiment of the meeting that such opposition would be maintained by the entire organization throughout the country until such time as justice is done to Ireland. The meeting also adopted a resolution to be cabled to Lloyd George expressing disapproval of his offer of settlement as inadequate and urging the recognition of the Irish republic. The other business of the meeting had reference mainly to arranging for the field day to be held at Spalding park on Labor day for the benefit of the Irish refugee fund.

Mr. John Barrett, president, occupied the chair and read a number of communications from headquarters. Among the speakers heard at the meeting were Rev. Fr. McDermott, O.M.I., Wm. Collins of Boston and Stephen Flynn. The speaker dealt with the negotiations now in progress for a settlement of the Irish question and pointed to the attitude of Ulster as one of the chief obstacles, although the British premier. It was claimed, could easily bring Ulster into line with the rest of Ireland. One of the speakers dealt with the subject of disarmament—a movement which he claimed would benefit England more than any other country. He also referred to the proposed refunding of the war loans, claiming that the United States should insist upon payment and should not allow a matter of such vast importance to be decided by any treasury official.

The arrangements for the field day, include a parade from the South common to be escorted by the Irish Pipes band of Worcester. The various councils are preparing banners suitably inscribed and setting forth the objects of the organization. It was announced that Miss Anna Walsh, the sister-in-law of Lord Mayor MacCurtain would be a speaker at Spalding park and that the general program included a very attractive list of Gaelic games and field sports. It was also announced that the committee in charge of the arrangements would hold a meeting tomorrow evening. The local councils were requested to seek the co-operation of their respective pastors in announcing the field day demonstration from their pulpits next Sunday. It was also announced that the Paul Kiltree council would meet at the Y.M.C.A. hall this evening to make arrangements for turning out in the parade. Towards the close of the meeting Mr. William Collins, who is a director in the state organization, congratulated the Lowell council upon their activities and earnest efforts in working for the cause of Irish freedom. The board will meet again next Sunday evening.

DYKES SETS AMERICAN
LEAGUE RECORD

NEW YORK, August 29.—An American league holding record of 17 games accepted by a second baseman, was set by Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, against St. Louis, the former mark of 16 being credited to D. B. Pratt, with the New York Americans last year. Dykes had nine pinpoints, one less than the American league record.

The Pittsburgh National league leaders ended their losing streak of 11 games when Morrison, pitching his three-hitter shutout performance, took two weeks ago against Chicago. The New York Nationals won their sixth successive game.

Outfielder Wood of Cleveland, batted in all three runs scored in his team's victory over Washington. He sent in two with a double and scored the other on his home run. The New York Americans lost grounds in the game standing by their defeat by Detroit. Pitcher Alexander of Chicago, pitching the 60th game of his career against New York, met his 5th defeat.

KILLED IN FIGHT AT MASKED BALL

Fist Fight Involving Belle of Fashionable Party at Allenhurst, N. J.

Argument Followed Refusal of Woman in Knickerbockers to Dance With Student

ALLENHURST, N. J., August 29.—Investigation continued today into the death of a guest from a fist fight involving the belle of the annual masked ball which forms the summer's social climax for the fashionable beach colony here. Cecil Adrian Arthur of New York, son of Mrs. J. Charles Tait of London, England, died as the result of a quarrel during the dance.

Salvatore Laborde of Havana, a student in the college of mechanical engineering at Cornell university, is under arrest. The prosecution's chief witness is expected to be Mrs. John S. Sutphen, Jr. of New York, who with her husband was Arthur's guest at the ball and was dancing with Arthur when the altercation occurred.

According to Laborde's friends, he thought he recognized as a friend Mrs. Sutphen, who was masked and attracted much attention by a costume of which included black silk knickerbockers. He asked her to dance and was refused, and according to detectives who investigated the case, his insistence led to the quarrel with Arthur.

The fight took place during an intermission. Jose Mantura and Manuel Fernandez of Havana, seated at a table with Laborde, saw Arthur was the aggressor. In the fight Arthur went down from a blow to the chin and his skull was fractured. He died in a hospital.

Laborde was held in the Freehold jail today awaiting an inquest. His companions were released as material witnesses in $5000 bail each. The head waiter, also held as a witness, was unable to provide bond.

FIND TWO MORE BODIES IN DIRIGIBLE ZR-2

LONDON, Aug. 29. (By Associated Press.)—The bodies of Lieut. Commander Emory Coll, U.S.N., and Ad Petitt, a rigger, who were killed in the fall of the dirigible ZR-2 at Hull last week, were recovered yesterday during salvage operations on the hull of the airship, according to an announcement made yesterday by the air ministry.

A parachute was found attached to Lieut. Commander Coll's body. Lieut. Commander Coll's home was Marietta, O. He was to have been executive officer of the airship when it was turned over to the United States navy.

Petitt lived in New York. The air ministry reports that a considerable portion of the airship has been salvaged. The body of Chief Rigger Petitt was found in a bunk. He apparently was asleep when killed. American bills amounting to $2000, photographs and various papers were found in Lieut. Commander Coll's pockets, as also was a gold-mounted watch.

Much wreckage from the airship was recovered late today. This will be examined.

Bodies to Be Sent Home

HULL, England, Aug. 29. (By Associated Press.)—The bodies of the American naval men, victims of the destruction of the ZR-2, will be sent home on the British cruiser Danubius, which probably will sail from Falmouth. The bodies will be escorted all the way from Hull to the United States by American air force officers.

During the salvaging operations on the ZR-2 yesterday what was believed to be the control car of the dirigible was raised to the surface, but fell back into the water again.

It is stated that mine sweeping operations will be adopted for salvaging the wreck of the airship and the recovery of the missing bodies.

A memorial service will be held in Old Trinity church next Thursday for the British and American naval men who were killed in the fall of the ZR-2. The service will be attended by the mayor and the corporation representatives of the British and American air forces. The Archbishop of York has been requested to conduct the service.

Air Service Force Attends Mass

PULHAM, Eng., Aug. 29. (By Associated Press.)—Virtually the entire staff of the Pulham air station, consisting of about 200 officers and men, headed by Maj. Fuller, paraded to church yesterday and participated in a special requiem mass held for the men killed in the ZR-2 disaster.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this means of thanking all my kind friends and neighbors, especially the members of Pentucket lodge of Masons as well as the employees of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co.'s packing room for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy in my recent bereavement. To all I am deeply grateful and will ever remember their sympathetic kindness.

MRS. SARAH GRIME.

PLANS CHANGED

It is probable that a meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce will not be held until after Labor Day. It was originally intended that a meeting should be held at the chamber headquarters today but plans were changed.

STRIKE BALLOTS TO R. R. UNIONS

Apparent Break Between Big Four Brotherhoods and Switchmen Minimized

Ballots Mailed to 650,000 R. R. Workers Yesterday and Today

CHICAGO, August 29.—An apparent break in the harmony among the big four brotherhoods and the switchmen's union of North America, in connection with mailing of strike ballots to the membership today was minimized by union officials.

Strike ballots were mailed to 650,000 railroad workers yesterday and today, but the ballot of the brotherhood of railway trainmen, comprising about 150,000 workers, went on a separate sheet.

The trainmen withdrew because their officers explained, the ballot drafted by the other four organizations "did not, in our opinion, contain an impartial and unbiased recital of all that is involved, nor did it convey the assurance that the wishes of the men, if against working for reduced wages, would determine the question, and that they would be permitted to leave the service."

The total ballot declared that if the members voted to reject the wage reduction, it was understood they would be permitted to withdraw from the service of their companies "on terms, satisfactory settlement can be reached under the laws of the organization."

The wage reductions authorized by the United States Railroad Labor board in July averaged about 12 percent, an estimated annual saving to the railroads of about $100,000,000.

Some union leaders asserted today that in their opinion, it was not the wage reduction, but working rules and agreements that would be the final bone of contention and particularly the time and a half for overtime hours recently restricted by the railroad labor board.

81-YEAR-OLD INVENTOR TAKES BRIDE OF 40

NEWBURY, Aug. 29.—E. Moody Boynton, the sage of Newbury, inventor of the electric railway and tooth saw and the storm-center of many a legislative battle, was married here at 8:30 last night in the parlor of the Boynton mansion to Mrs. Charlotte Nickerson of 49 Hancock street, Boston, mother of the three boys he adopted in 1911. Boynton is 81 years old and his bride 40.

The wedding was a complete surprise to both the venerable inventor's family of four daughters, who live in West Newbury, and almost as much to the sons of Mrs. Nickerson, although the latter had an inkling as to what was going on and arrived at the Boynton home just in time to be present when the Rev. Dr. Degan of the Newbury Congregational church led the ceremony.

Mr. George M. Brown and Miss Edith M. Dougherty were married Saturday afternoon at 3 Belmont street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. M. Craig. After October 1, the couple will make their home at 64 Lincoln street.

Tag Days of a New Sort

tag to his coat, asking at the same time that the contractor to some worthy cause. Mr. Lowell, usually experienced only pleasurable sensations and willingly parted with a generous donation.

But the new brand of "tagging" which is now in prospect will be lacking in such enjoyable features. The tags which have just been put into circulation in this city do not bear the name of any charity. They carry the seal of the state and bear the words "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts." And the donations which they procure will be figured in dollars rather than cents.

No Beautiful Damself

These tags are not in the possession of young and beautiful damself, but of stalwart, blue-coated guardians of the law. They will be attached to the automobiles of those who persist in using headlights that are contrary to the new anti-larc law.

They have tags attached and those who will be attached after a machine is tagged and sent to the office of State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank R. Goodwin, informing him that the owner of a designated car is defying the new legislation.

Downey Has Them

Superintendent of Police Redmond has announced this morning that the shipment of tags recently sent him from the headquarters of the state registrar have been turned over to Deputy Chief J. Downey for distribution among the members of the local police force. The latter are authorized to tag any car which has not complied with the new headlight law. It is a case of "three tags and you're out" although how much you'll be out remains to be seen. You may be out one perfectly good automobile license, which Registrar Goodwin has the power to annul if motor vehicle regulations are not observed.

Are in Danger

It was stated at police headquarters this morning that no cars have yet been tagged in this city for infringement of the recently promulgated regulations, but the tags are in possession of the officers and those who have been tagged are already given to "make it cozy" in the matter of proper headlights. In danger of trouble with the state registrar.

Four Robbers Raid Vaults of Chicago Bank But Overlook Big Roll of Bills

Chief of Detectives Calls Affair "Inside Job" and Holds Custodians of Vaults

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—A raid on the vaults of the Security Safe Deposit Co. last night by four masked robbers netted them about $250,000. It was estimated today, although they overtook $40,000 in one thousand dollar bills in one box.

Today Michael Hughes, chief of detectives, characterized the affair as an "inside job" and held the two custodians of the vaults who he said, told contradictory stories. Three other suspects have been taken into custody. The four robbers, well dressed, appeared at the vaults about 8 o'clock. One of them applied for a safety deposit box. When the doors to the vaults were opened, the bandits bound the custodians and with lead mallets opened several boxes.

They were fired on when leaving the bank more than an hour later but escaped unhurt. A few seconds later, policemen from four stations, a rifle squad and many detectives were swarming the building.

City Officials Keep Silence

new dwelling house will have risen unless the city acts at once to stop the same. Once the dwelling is up, the value of the land will automatically increase. There is nothing to prevent owners of other parcels in the proposed playground area from following Mr. Donovan's example, thus materially boosting the cost of the land if the city finds that it must take over the site for recreational purposes.

No Definite Statement

It is impossible to get any definite statement on the matter from city officials. The members of the municipal council were sent notices last week by Mr. Donovan's attorney that unless the council showed some signs of life, work on the erection of a dwelling house would start this morning. Nobody did anything to ward off the construction and this morning, true to his word, Mr. Donovan gave his contractor instructions to "go to it."

In the meantime several hundred residents of the upper Highlands, who approved a petition calling upon the city to take over the tract in question for playground purposes, are wondering what is to be the fate of their prayer. Upon receipt of the petition more than a month ago, the council loaned the advertising of a $12,000 loan order to buy the land. That's all as the matter has progressed. The loan has never been acted on.

Commissioners Were Ready

It is understood that the commissioners were ready to pass the order for the taking of the land. That's all as the matter has progressed. The loan has never been acted on.

Made No Report

The park department has as yet made no report. No hearing has been given the opponents of the project. The law department has taken no action on the letter of Mr. Donovan's attorney, giving notice that construction was to be started. City Solicitor William D. Regan feels that the initiative should be taken either by the park department or municipal council.

When Asked This Noon What Was to Be Done on the Matter, Mayor Thompson Replied: "I'm Sure I Do Not Know."

He said the matter was one for the municipal council as a whole to decide. At the present time, no meeting of the municipal council is officially scheduled until Tuesday, September 6, one week from tomorrow.

How of Protest

It will be recalled that when the council voted to advertise the $12,000 loan order to take over the Highlands land, a howl of protest went up from opponents of a petition submitted to the council several years ago, asking that the city buy Washington park for playground purposes. They could not understand why their petition should be sidetracked in favor of one that had come in much later.

It was then that the municipal council explained that unless it acted at once on the upper Highlands matter, there would probably be no new construction there in the near future, which would tend to increase the cost of taking the land. But now, after the expiration of five weeks, building is actually under way and still the council has not definitely his attempt to swim the English channel, last week, will soon try again to accomplish the feat. Tigrasch, an Italian swimmer, also is training for the event. Omer Perault, former Montreal resident, has arrived at Calais, preparing to attempt the swim in September.

James Wolfe, the veteran swimmer, has been training at Brighton for the past two months, for his 22nd attempt to conquer the channel.

Evidence that Sullivan had in the second week of August given up all hopes of making the long swim until a change of tide in September is confirmed by a letter from him to his wife in this city, dated Aug. 13. Part of it was written in Cape Gris-Nez, France, and the rest of it in Dover, England, two days later. The Lowell swimmer made the trip across the channel in a fast motorboat but only after great difficulties. The boat had gone only a short distance when the pilot said he would not chance his life to cross the channel on the sea and wind were increasing every minute. The party had to return to land and went to Calais. The next day the tide was again tried and this with success but it took seven hours to make the journey, considered unusually long.

At the time of writing the weather was cold, rainy and windy. Sullivan says in his letter. He writes that he is relying on the French coast guard to set the day for the start of the swim. Under date of Aug. 13 he writes:

"Today is the last chance at this time but I am waiting as patiently as I can. I don't think there will be possible chance this time and now to the long wait until September."

Mr. Sullivan's father contended last week when news was received that his son had called to make the swim of his fourth attempt at crossing the water ten hours that Henry was simply making a trial swim and the swimmer's own letter seems to indicate the fact.
